Reagan Trims, Signs $5.08-Billion Budget

Q. I served with the U.S. Marines in Vietnam in September 1966, but became ill and was transferred to a hospital in the Philippines. I left a seabag in Okinawa and it's never been returned to me. How can I go about getting it back? W.R.C., Long Beach.

A. Your seabag probably is following in your path and may end up here, says a Marine spokesman at Camp Pendleton. However, you can file an application for your property at Building 30, Long Beach Naval Station. If you present four copies of your discharge orders, the Navy baggage center will send a request to Okinawa. If this fails to turn up your bag, a tracer will be sent. "We usually recover all misplaced baggage, even if it takes some time," says a Navy clerk.

Q. I've been reading a lot lately about poisonous plants and hidden poisons in the home that are dangerous — especially to children. Can Action Line tell me where to get information on this topic? P.E., Long Beach.

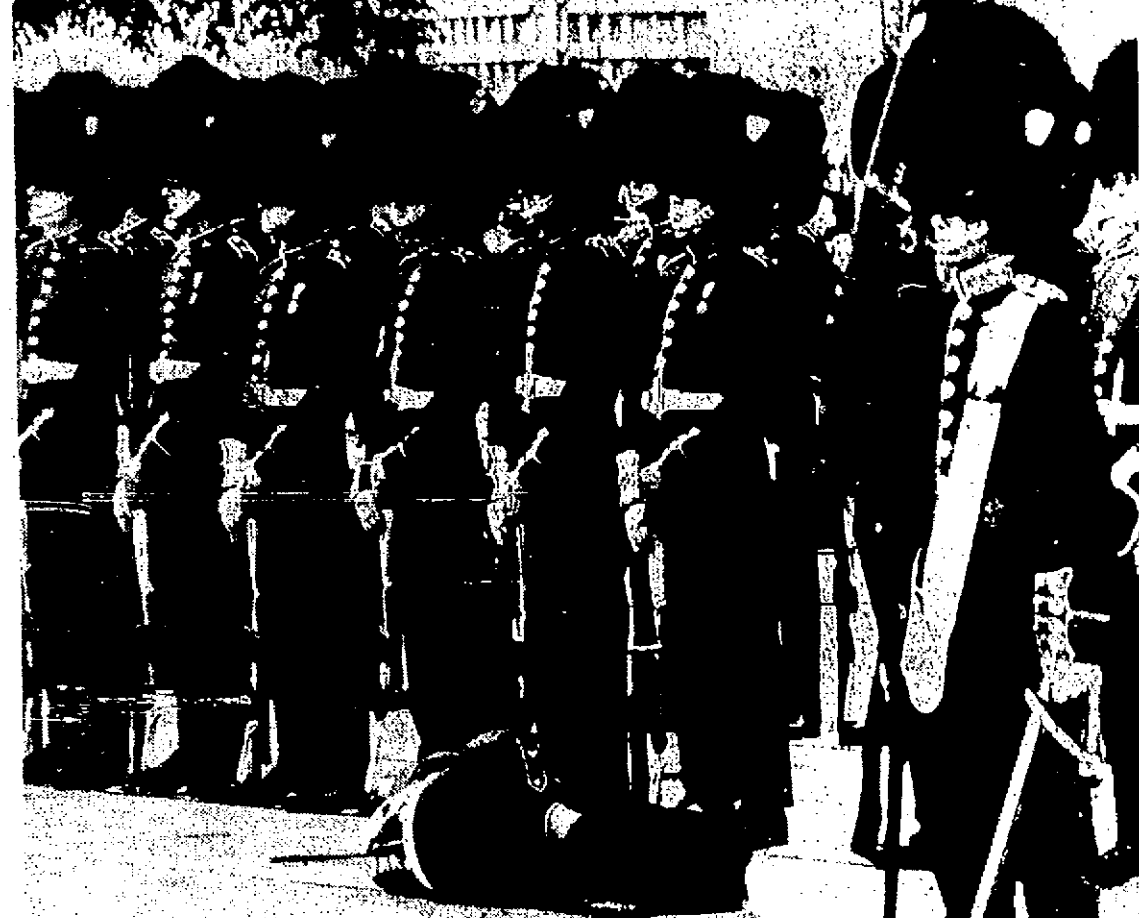

A. Yes. A list of some of the poisonous plants, compiled by the Long Beach Health Department, is on its way to you. Except for lethal mushrooms, poisoning which results from eating plants in uncommon compared to other toxic substances. Some poisonous plants are beautiful, like the iris, and some rare, as is the Ginkgo tree, so it's hard to tell from external appearance. Also, some edible plants, like the rhubarb, have poisonous leaves or roots. ACTION LINE also will send you "Find the Poisons in Your Home Before Your Child Does," a booklet published by the Poison Information Center of the Los Angeles Children's Hospital. The center offers explicit information only to physicians, but has an educational service for the public. Others wanting the booklet should send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. JACKSON HOLE, Wyo. — Republican governors expressed their support Friday for an open 1968 nominating convention in which as many delegates as possible would be free to vote their own conviction.

Before adjourning a two-day conference at Jackson Lake Lodge here, the Republican Governors Association unanimously approved a resolution favoring uninstructed delegations to the national convention provided state laws or favorite son movements were not in conflict.

The resolution is strictly an advisory one and is not expected to change the ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Democratic governors began arriving in St. Louis Friday evening for a caucus today in which they will discuss party strategy in coming elections and other matters. Nineteen governors are expected. President Johnson has been invited to the caucus and may spend some time with the governors.

Education, Health Funds Cut

By JERRY RANKIN
SACRAMENTO (AP) — Cutting out millions of dollars in education and mental health care funds approved by the legislature, Gov. Reagan Friday night signed into law a $5.08 billion state budget.

The first-term Republican governor put his clear signature to the spending program for fiscal 1967-68 at 9:15 p.m. in his ceremonial office — two hours and 45 minutes before the deadline imposed by law.

Reagan's announcement to a room full of his aides and newsmen that he had decided to trim $43.53 million from the budget sent to him Thursday by lawmakers was sure to cause a furor.

LEGISLATORS, after months of deliberation, had approved a figure of $5,126,834,700.

Reagan's final budget was $5,083,306,586.

At any rate, the budget-signing meant that Californians will be faced with at least $750 million in higher taxes to finance the spending program — the biggest budget ever enacted for any state in the Union.

Reagan's $1 billion tax hike program was scheduled to be heard today in the Senate Finance Committee.

The ceremony in the governor's office was a brief one, and newsmen were not allowed to ask questions.

A Democrat, Assemblyman Robert Crown of Alameda, whispered something to Reagan about the legislature being able to override his last-minute slashes. The governor looked

Q. I'm a member of the U.S. Coast Guard stationed in Long Beach. I like working with youngsters, and would like to introduce stamp collecting to some of the kids in children's homes in the area. Can you help me get some canceled foreign stamps for a starter? H.D.R., Long Beach.

A. Certainly. Students at the Foreign Student Center at the University of California at Los Angeles say they'll post a sign requesting foreign stamps. Long Beach collector L. H. Brightman, 110 Pine Ave., says he'll be glad to help you if you'll contact him with your problem.

Q. We're not desperate, but would love to please our daughter on her birthday with an autographed picture of singer Dean Martin, whom she likes very much. She's written often to many agencies she finds in magazines, but without success. Mrs. L.R., Bellflower.

A. Your daughter's birthday should be a happy one — an autographed picture is on its way to you. Dean Martin, born Dino Crocetti in 1917 in Ohio, first came to fame with his partnership with zany Jerry Lewis. Of that relationship, Martin has said, "For many years I was part of a team. I wasn't me — I was half of something." Martin now enjoys increasing success as crooner, actor and television performer.

character of next year's Republican National Convention very much. It would have no effect in the dozen states where delegates are chosen in primary elections or in others where there is no machinery for instructing delegates.

IF THE proposal of the governors were widely accepted, however, it would tend to make it more difficult for one candidate to obtain a large block of convention votes well in advance, as Barry Goldwater did in 1964.

It would also enhance the role, as convention power brokers, of the Republican governors who could allot their delegate strength without restrictions and enable them to support a presidential candidate not favored by the majority of party leaders in their states.

Gov. Dewey F. Bartlett of Oklahoma, who sponsored the resolution, said it would help create "a climate for free and full debate" at the convention and encourage presidential candidates to campaign in states other than those holding primaries.

Latin Bloc Asks Israel Pull Back

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The Latin American nations and a nonaligned bloc Friday introduced General Assembly resolutions to have Israel pull back from occupied Arab territory. The South American version proposed international control of Jerusalem.

A total of five resolutions took shape as the 122-nation Assembly wound up two weeks of debate on the Mideast crisis and girded for a showdown vote Monday. The diplomats adjourned for a week-end of backstage maneuvering.

Israel served notice before adjournment it would reject the proposal by non-aligned nations for a withdrawal of troops.

In Jerusalem, Israel virtually completed annexation of the Old City Friday.

Kirschke Ordered to Stand Trial

By BOB SCHMIDT
From Our L.A. Bureau

Dep. Dist. Atty. Jack Kirschke will have to stand trial on charges he killed his wife and her lover, Superior Court Judge Richard F. C. Hayden ruled Friday.

The judge denied attorney Albert C. S. Ramsey's motion that the Grand Jury "hearsay," "irrelevant," or "conjecture."

The judge also denied a petition for bail, and ordered Kirschke returned to the court of Judge Robert Feinerman on July 7 for setting of a trial date.

RAMSEY SAID he would, at that time, renew a request that the trial be held in Long Beach.

Following Judge Hayden's rejection of the dismissal motion, Asst. Atty. Gen. Albert W. Harris arraigned Kirschke. He asked the defendant how he pleaded.

Kirschke, his hands clenched at his sides, said, "May it please the court, not guilty."

The final two words were almost shouted.

Afterwards, the defendant was allowed to visit briefly with his son, Douglas, 23, a recent graduate of the University of Colorado. The two shook hands as Kirschke was led away trailed by a battery of newsmen.

He again affirmed his innocence, and said "Everybody's being so careful that I am not treated differently than any other defendant, that I am being treated differently."

He reiterated that he welcomed a trial as the

Typhoon Blamed in Asia Crash

HONG KONG (UPI) — Swift emergency action rescued 56 survivors Friday from a Thailand jetliner with 89 persons aboard, most of them Americans, that crashed into Kowloon Bay while landing in a rainstorm. Twenty-four passengers were killed or missing.

The twin-jet Thai International Airways Caravelle was carrying 73 passengers and seven crew members on a Tokyo-Bangkok flight when it plunged into the bay and sank about 200 yards short of the runway of Hong Kong's Kai Tak International Airport.

Airport officials blamed the crash on the bad weather caused by an offshore typhoon.

Thai Airways officials later said they had firm reports the twin-jet plane hit a downdraft as it came in.

Governor Cuts Funds of Center

From Our State Bureau
SACRAMENTO — Gov. Ronald Reagan Friday night blue-penciled a $2.1 million appropriation which would have provided full state funding for the Long Beach multiservice center at 555 E. Pacific Coast Highway and six other poverty assistance facilities.

The Reagan Administration earlier had announced plans to phase out the center and the facility was turned into a "community" center under the joint operation of the city, county and state.

Also slashed by Reagan was $104,445 for Orange County beach erosion work.

Q. Is there some way I can get information or a picture of the transport ship U.S.S. Gen. William Mitchell? W.K.H., Long Beach.

A. Yes. Ship histories are available free of charge from the Public Relations Office of the Department of the Navy, Washington, D.C. Send a written request along with a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope. These histories are compiled by the Navy and take about three weeks for delivery, due to constant demand.

Q. I tried to place a classified ad with The Independent, Press-Telegram saying I have half of a ticket worth prize money if matched with the other half. I was told I couldn't place such an ad. Why not? M.E.R., Long Beach.

A. The policy of The I. P.T. explains Dorothy Livengood, supervisor of the classified ad telephone room, is to not accept ads dealing with games of chance and betting. "Since reader confidence in our ads is important, we feel accepting ads of this sort might lead to accepting all kinds of ads from phonies," she says. Each paper sets its own ad policy, so there are variations.

Q. What is the difference between an honorable discharge from the armed forces and a general discharge under honorable conditions? Will the latter hurt a man's chances for a job? Mrs. C.R.W., Long Beach.

A. An honorable discharge signifies a serviceman has performed his military duties with unqualified merit, says a U.S. Air Force spokesman. However, if a serviceman has gotten into some trouble or has some misconduct on his record, he may receive a general discharge. If so, he may have trouble competing with a man with an honorable discharge, but he loses no rights, as do those with a dishonorable discharge.

THIS MILD attempt at convention reform was almost the only substantive action take as the 21 Republican governors closed a conference that was long on political talk but short on decision.

Gov. John A. Love of Colorado, the association chairman, reported that the organization had not moved to endorse any presidential candidate or sought a consensus on anyone's behalf.

Neither of the two governors regarded as possible presidential candidates, George Romney of Michigan and Ronald Reagan of California, attended the meeting. Both were working with their legislatures to meet a June 30 budget deadline.

Father Rescues Kidnaped Girl

NATIONAL CITY (AP) — Police say the father of a 13-year-old kidnaped girl — rushing home to comfort his distraught wife — happened on the kidnap car Friday and rescued the youngster.

The girl, Vicki Ann McKnight, was unharmed. Police issued an all-points bulletin for her abductor.

Larry McKnight said the rescue of his daughter went this way:

Police had told him that his daughter had been kidnaped on her way home from school and advised him to go home to be with his wife, Barbara.

AS HE CUT THROUGH a parking lot he spotted a car fitting the description of the one driven by the kidnaper.

Vicki was in the car.

"I pulled my daughter out. I had a rifle in the back of my car — unloaded because of the kids — and I grabbed it and told the man I would shoot if he didn't stop. He almost ran me down getting out of there," McKnight said.

Vickie said the man had displayed a badge and ordered her into his car, saying he would drive her home.

Two boys who were with her alerted police.

McKnight said that it "was just pure luck" that he took the route he did.

The suspect was described as being about 30, weighing about 145 pounds, 5-foot-11 and having dark, wavy hair.

M16 Manufacturer Struck Over Wages

HARTFORD, Conn. Saturday (UPI) — Colt Industries Inc., sole producer of the M16 rifle used in Vietnam, was struck in a wage dispute at 12:01 a.m. today by Local 376 of the United Auto Workers Union.

Picket lines went up immediately and a union spokesman said he expected they would be honored by all union workers at the plant.

SOUND OFF!

As most people expected, the cry of "police brutality" has risen as a result of the actions of the Los Angeles Police Department during President Johnson's recent trip. Most people who participate in demonstrations must be ready to accept the consequences of their actions if they go around the more acceptable means of letter writing and voting. The violations of the parade permit and the consequent police action should have been realized by all of the marchers even if they desired to avoid a clash. Had the majority of the protesters wanted to avoid police action, they could have bodily removed the trouble-makers. Now is the time for responsible citizens to let our police know we support, and demand, their protective actions.

No 'Grand Funeral' for Jayne

Combined News Services

A brief legal fight for custody of Jayne Mansfield's body took a surprise twist in New Orleans Friday when the judge ruled the actress still was married to Hollywood muscle man Mickey Hargitay when she died.

Judge Bernard J. Bagert ordered the blonde actress' body released to Hargitay and her mother "in accordance with state law." Miss Mansfield was killed in a traffic accident Thursday.

Thus ended 34 hours of controversy over who would take Miss Mansfield to her final resting place — Hargitay or movie director Matt Cimber, the man the world believed to be her latest husband. Hargitay said funeral plans were incomplete. Earlier, he said the ceremony would be private.

The judge rejected the claim by Cimber, father of Miss Mansfield's 1-year-old son, Antonio. Cimber and Miss Mansfield were estranged. Cimber had announced in Los Angeles he was planning a "grand Hollywood funeral" for Miss Mansfield. Cimber, in Los Angeles, did obtain temporary court approval Friday to administer the actress' estate. He said he was moving quickly to "preserve the assets of her estate."

Meanwhile in Hollywood, Miss Mansfield's agent Ross Christena said her only real love was Hargitay. "She told me the only man she ever really loved was Mickey," said Christena, adding that the two met last week in New York City.

"Mickey's girlfriend babysat for them while they went out and had dinner," Christena said.

LOW GRADE

Dancer Juliet Prowse obtained a temporary restraining order Friday at Santa Monica halting use of her name or likeness in advertisements for what she termed a "cheap, low-grade movie."

The action followed a similar demand a week ago by singer Vic Damone. Both entertainers contended producers of the motion picture, "Spree" used filmed scenes of them without their consent. The movie has been showing in Los Angeles. She asked $2 million compensatory and $2 million exemplary damages from United Producers Organization and other defendants.

U.S. Vice President Hubert Humphrey talked about the Vietnam war with South Korean President Park Chung-Hee in Seoul Friday, while riot police used clubs and tear gas to break up a student demonstration.

Humphrey is in Korea to attend Park's inauguration for a second term as president. The students rallied 1,000 strong to protest the alleged "rigging" of elections which gave Park's party a two-thirds majority in the national assembly. Opposition politicians announced they will hold a 24-hour fast.

U.S. Bombs Haiphong After Soviet Complaint

Combined News Services

SAIGON — American jets roared back to pound the outskirts of the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong Friday despite Soviet charges that they shot up a Soviet freighter at the port only the day before. A defense Department spokesman in Washington conceded that U.S. jets may well have hit the vessel Thursday as they swooped down to destroy nearby anti-aircraft guns. The raids which may have hit the freighter were directed against fuel dumps near Haiphong, and so was the fresh wave of jets which thundered over the port city Friday.

A military spokesman in Saigon said U.S. Navy Skyhawks from aircraft carrier Intrepid flew in to blast an oil dump, seven miles southwest of the city center. Thursday's attacks were a little closer, 4 to 4.5 miles from downtown Haiphong. The second day of raids on Haiphong coincided with two days of fresh fighting between American Marines and North Vietnamese infiltrators believed building up for new offensives along the demilitarized zone. An American military spokesman said four Marines and eight Communists were killed in sporadic fighting near the border post of Con Thieu. A Marine helicopter was shot down farther south, with five dead and seven wounded. American B52 bombers blasted storage areas and infiltration routes about 10 miles west of Con Thieu.

Kiesinger Cancels U.S. Trip

BONN, Germany—Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger Friday canceled his plans to see President Johnson in Washington next week because of a major crisis in West Germany's seven-month-old coalition government. A government spokesman said there were "differences within the cabinet on economic and financial questions." Meanwhile, Iceland's president, Asgeir Asgeirsson, has accepted an invitation to visit Washington July 18, the Texas White House announced.

BERLIN — An automobile crash in East Germany in which four Chinese Communist diplomats were killed has led to a major diplomatic incident between Peking and the East German communist government, it was learned Friday. Members of the Chinese embassy staff in East Berlin have pasted up wall posters denouncing the East Germans as "murderers." They shouted slogans through a bullhorn, calling the East German "nazis." Friday the embassy building was sealed off by a cordon of policemen.

South Africa Expels Bishop

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Anglican Bishop Edward Crowther, a foe of apartheid, left South Africa on a London-bound plane Friday after being ordered out by the government, an airline spokesman said. Bishop Crowther, a British-born American citizen, had been ordered to quit the country by midnight. No reason was given.

15 Radium Needles Lost Crossing U.S.

NEW YORK — Fifteen tiny needles of radium were reported lost Friday in a shipment here from San Diego, Calif. The City Health Department said 15 of 18 needles were found missing when the shipment arrived at the laboratory of the Radium Chemical Co. They had been shipped by rail from the U.S. Navy hospital in San Diego. Officials said the needles are about the size of phonograph needles and are of a shiny metal resembling aluminum. The radioactivity of the radium remains dangerous for up to 2,000 years. The shipment, third such loss reported here in a year, passed through Los Angeles, Chicago, and North Bergen, N.J. before arriving in Manhattan.

New Tobacco Curb Asked

WASHINGTON—The Federal Trade Commission asked Congress Friday to enact legislation requiring a health warning in all cigarette advertisements on the ground that the cigarette industry has not lived up to its promises to police its own advertising. Although "minor changes" have been made in cigarette advertisements, the industry continues to aim its ads at young people, the commission said. The average youngster watches more television programs each week that are sponsored by cigarette companies than the average adult does and the industry continues to use ads "that have special appeal to younger people," the commission said. It added that "cigarette advertisements... have been successful in their subtle but effective attempts to persuade teenagers to smoke despite the known health hazards. To protect this group, the commission feels it imperative that adequate health warnings be included in all cigarette advertising."

Judge Frees Accused Hippies

NEW YORK — "This court will not deny the equal protection of the law to the unwashed, unshod, unkempt and uninhibited." So ruling, Judge Herman Weinkrantz Friday freed 39 hippies arrested in a Memorial Day clash with police in New York's East Greenwich Village. The long-haired, mud-soaked hippies were arrested by more than 100 police officers when they refused orders to stop playing guitars, tom-toms, bongos, cymbals and bells at an improvised "be-in" in Tompkins Park on the lower East Side.

A fatigue-wearing ex-defendant presented Weinkrantz with a wooden ring Friday before departing on the one-mile trek uptown to his East Village pad. Others tried to show their appreciation by placing leis over the heads of court officials. They were restrained.

Holiday Highway Jam Starts

Americans by the thousands rolled away on motor trips Friday at the start of the long Independence Day holiday. The weather generally was favorable for travel, with clear skies and warm temperatures in most of the country. But there was some rain in the South and East. The National Safety Council estimated that 700 to 800 lives may be lost in traffic accidents during the tabulation period that began at 6 p.m. Friday and will end at midnight Tuesday.

Extended Draft Prolongs 'Abuses'

New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — The four-year extension of the draft law signed by President Johnson Friday perpetuates most of the alleged abuses of the current system which have been the object of widespread complaint over the past year.

The new law, known as the Military Selective Service Act of 1967, and the executive order implementing it, represented a distinct setback for the administration's plan to reform the draft. Both measures were signed by the President at his central Texas ranch and take effect July 1. Details of the executive order were released here.

Conversely, the measures amounted to a victory for Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, and the other southern conservatives in Congress who have opposed any basic change in the current draft process.

The new law prohibits the President from drafting youths by lot, as he had announced.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The executive order issued Friday by President Johnson allows for 19-year-olds to be called to military service first, but this may not take place for a year. Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, said the move merely authorizes such action by the President and Secretary of Defense if circumstances require it.

He announced his intention of doing, without specific congressional approval in the form of new legislation. Under the current system, the oldest men are taken first in the order of their birth dates.

IN HIS DRAFT message to Congress in March, Johnson announced that he would reverse this process by January 1, 1969 and begin drafting the youngest men, the eligible 19-year-olds, under a system of random selection or lottery.

The one basic reform retained by the President was the authority to end graduate school deferments except for medical and dental students, but the executive order placed a one-year moratorium on the implementation of this intended action.

The legislation solidifies the executive practice of deferring undergraduates, by specifically spelling out in the law for the first time blanket deferments for undergraduates.

Johnson had not expressed any intention of ending undergraduate deferments and had simply requested congressional debate on this much-criticized practice. The administration did, however, ask retention of the presidential authority to cease granting them if Johnson later desired. He can still do so, but must now justify this action in terms of the needs of the armed forces.

The new law specifically grants an automatic deferment to any draft registrant "satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction at a college, university or similar institution of learning" until he gains his baccalaureate degree, fails to satisfactorily pursue his studies or becomes 24 years of age.

Those who obtain undergraduate deferments are then, however, barred from avoiding service afterwards by obtaining a fatherhood deferment, although they are still eligible for hardship deferments.

THE EXECUTIVE order placing a one-year moratorium on the ending of graduate deferments except for medical and dental students states that any registrant who is accepted for his first year of graduate study by October 1, 1967, will automatically be granted a one-year deferment.

Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, the director of selective service, said he did not know what action the President would take after this one year moratorium, but pointed to Johnson's announced intention of eventually ending graduate deferments.

Students already pursuing graduate studies will also continue to be deferred for specified periods of time.

A registrant already studying for a master's degree will automatically gain a one-year deferment after Oct. 1, 1967.

Anyone already studying for a doctoral or equivalent professional degree or a combination of master's and doctoral degrees will be deferred for a total of five years, including any years he has already been deferred prior to Oct. 1, 1967.

He may be deferred simply for one additional year after that date, whichever is greater.

Where conscientious objection is concerned, the new law attempts to restrict the definition of this status, as Rivers and other conservatives desired.

It does so by deleting from the old law the words that objection to military service be based on "an individual's belief in a relation to a supreme being involving duties superior to those arising from any human relation." In the Supreme case of 1965, the Supreme Court used these words to broaden the definition of conscientious objector status by granting it to individuals who believed in a universal moral imperative parallel to a conventional religious belief in God.

A uniform criteria provision was included in the House bill, but the Senate kept it out of the final act which President Johnson signed Friday.

Their legislation would require local draft boards to observe uniform national criteria in classifying young men. Many House members have complained that as a result of the independence now enjoyed by local boards, youths in identical situations often are treated differently by different boards.

ASTRONAUT TRAINEES READY FOR 'MOL' ASSIGNMENT
Maj. Abrahamson, Lt. Col. Herres, Maj. Lawrence, and Maj. Peterson

1st Negro Astronaut Says Selection Not Unexpected

By LEE CRAIG

Aerospace Editor

The first Negro ever to be chosen for astronaut training doesn't think his selection represents a giant step forward toward improvement of race relations in this country.

"It's just part of normal progression," Air Force Maj. Robert H. Lawrence Jr., 31, of Chicago, told newsmen Friday at El Segundo, where announcement was made of four new astronaut trainees for the Air Force's Manned Orbiting Laboratory program.

Lawrence said he didn't anticipate any racial problems with his fellow astronauts and his feelings were echoed by the others named with him, Maj. James A. Abrahamson, 34, of Portland, Ore.; Lt. Col. Robert T. Herres, 34, of Denver, and Maj. Donald H. Peterson, 33, of Winona, Miss.

Maj. Peterson, the only one from a southern state, was asked if he felt he would have difficulty overcoming any prejudice he might feel in sharing a cramped space capsule with a Negro.

Two-man crews will be

"Well, we roomed together last night," Peterson answered. "I don't think there will be any problem."

One reporter nearly broke up the meeting when he asked:

"But who is going to sit in the back of the capsule?"

All four officers now attend the aerospace research pilot school at Edwards Air Force Base. They were chosen from among some 500 Air Force officers who applied for astronaut training.

Lawrence, who holds a doctorate in physical chemistry, said he worked as a bus boy and waiter, among other jobs, to finance his education. He is married and has one child.

Formal training for the officers will begin in September when they will join 12 others previously assigned to the MOL program.

Purpose of the program, which has its first manned launch in 1970, is to determine man's military role in space.

Two-man crews will be launched into space inside a Gemini B spacecraft by a Titan IIIM booster. In Orbit, they will transfer to the laboratory through a hatch in the Gemini heat shield. The laboratory is designed to allow the crew to conduct experiments in space for up to 30 days in a shirt sleeve environment.

Base Commander Accused of Martial 'Jury Tampering'

New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — The commanding general of the Army base at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., was accused Friday of using his rank to influence court-martial officers to impose heavy sentences in court-martial cases.

The Court of Military Appeals was told that Maj. Gen. T. H. Lipscomb has admitted under oath to Army investigators that he urged court-martial officers under his command to mete out heavy sentences, so that he could negotiate guilty pleas for lower sentences.

This was denounced as "jury-tampering" by a lawyer for one of 72 soldiers who have appealed their sentences.

Another lawyer charged that Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor and the Judge Advocate General of the Army, Maj. Gen. Robert R. McCaw, have known of Lipscomb's activities for months but did not act to stop them.

Lipscomb acknowledged in a telephone interview that he did admit contacting court-martial officers about their sentences, but he said "there is no truth whatsoever that I tried to influence the court."

He explained that he had contacted certain court-martial officers after they had imposed heavy sentences on soldiers who had pleaded guilty, and after he had reduced the sentences. He said he did not want the officers to think that the reduction indicated their commander's displeasure at the heavier sentence.

House Republicans Vow Selective Service Change

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Forty House Republicans announced Friday they would introduce legislation July 10 to correct a "rampan, obvious, blatant and unjustifiable inequity" which they said the new draft law does relatively little to correct.

Their legislation would require local draft boards to observe uniform national criteria in classifying young men. Many House

Reagan Press Man Given Job Title

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Paul Beck Friday was named press secretary to Gov. Ronald Reagan, a move that gives him a new title for the job he has been doing for several months.

Beck, 35, a former Los Angeles Times reporter, had been known as assistant press secretary. The man usually thought of as Reagan's press secretary, Lyn Nofziger, actually holds the title of communications director. He remains in that post.

L.B. Mine Squadron 11 Extolled

SAN FRANCISCO — Work of the Long Beach-based minesweeping boats of Mine Squadron 11 was extolled Friday by Adm. Roy L. Johnson, commander-in-chief of the Pacific Fleet.

Adm. Johnson was the luncheon speaker before the world-famed Commonwealth Club in the Sheraton-Palace Hotel.

The four-star admiral pointed out, too, that "any chance the enemy may have had to win a complete military victory in South Vietnam is gone.

"Hanoi realizes this and, therefore, is counting heavily on the American people losing their will and fortitude to stay in Vietnam and fight."

"I have enough confidence in our country to feel this will not happen — and on my recent seventh visit into the war zone, I know it won't for our young men there won't let it."

Turning to the ships of the Pacific Mine Force, under the command of Rear Adm. Horace V. Bird in Long Beach:

"Can you imagine yourself on board a 57-foot craft steaming the Long Tau River at daybreak between banks covered with heavy jungle growth?"

"You are sweeping for mines planted by the Viet Cong . . . you may be subjected to gunfire from the river banks at any time . . . several of these boats have been lost and valiant sailors have died. . . .

"In spite of this the morale of this group is as high as I have observed. These men deserve great credit for their dedication," Adm. Johnson declared.

Also praised were the Long Beach-based ocean minesweepers, engaged in Operation Market Time — surveillance for sea infiltration of men and materiel.

"I cannot say enough for the job the young men of the Pacific Fleet are doing, enduring hardships and sacrifice for a cause we know and they know is just," the admiral said.

Adm. Johnson also discussed the air war, naval gunfire, nation building, operational tempos, amphibious operations with the Marines — "the best in the world" — and the winning of the people, "slow but sure."

Marine Sergeant Held in Triangle Shooting of Wife

A Marine Corps sergeant was arrested Friday on charges of shooting his wife three times and blasting three shots at her fleeing companion after he allegedly found them together in his apartment at Garden Grove.

Sgt. Ralph E. Ellis, 23, of El Toro Marine Corps Air Station, east of Santa Ana, was jailed on an attempted murder charge.

Garden Grove police said he wounded his wife, Annette, 21, with a .22-caliber pistol when he returned to the apartment about 2:15 a.m. Friday and found her with Sgt. David P. Schwartz, 21.

Schwartz ducked a fusillade of three bullets as he fled from the Ellis apartment at 11561 Stuart Drive, police said.

Mrs. Ellis was wounded once in each arm and another slug grazed the side of her head. She is in Orange County Medical Center. Physicians there said she lost considerable blood, but her condition was satisfactory.

In the apartment at the time was 2-year-old Leslie Ellis, daughter of the couple. The child slept through the shooting. She was taken into protective custody.

Garden Grove police said the shooting climaxed a bitter argument between Ellis and his wife during a party. They said Ellis left the apartment before midnight to go to the air station, then returned to the apartment about two hours later.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF

Contract Averts Strike at Gemco

Retail clerks Friday reached agreement on a new contract with Gemco Stores only hours before a scheduled midnight walkout. The chain has four Long Beach area outlets.

The contract, which still needs ratification by union membership, provides for 55 cents in wage increases over a 5-year period. The pact also carries a cost-of-living provision based on the consumer price index.

The strike threat had periled stores in Downey, Anaheim, Santa Ana and Fountain Valley.

Still in store for the Retail Clerks Union are sessions scheduled for today with other Southland stores including White Front, Unimart, and Cal Stores. Another key industry chain, Akron, averted a strike with an early settlement with the clerks.

Singer's Assailants Still at Large

Long Beach police Friday continued their search for three unknown assailants who gunned down Long Beach nightclub singer Tyrone Sprewell, 28, on a downtown street.

Sprewell, who lives at 1551 E. Cruces St., Wilmington, was reported in good condition at Harbor General Hospital. The entertainer had 47 shotgun pellets in him, hospital authorities said.

The singer said he thought that the attack might have been triggered by his attentions to a woman in a bar on Alamitos Avenue.

It was the second brush of misfortune to strike Sprewell in recent months. Last Nov. 28, his daughter, Tijuana, 16 months, was fatally burned when fire swept the apartment in which she was living with her mother and stepfather. The stepfather, Vassie Washington, 29, is now facing trial on charges of suspicion of arson and murder.

Paramount Man Gains Post

Joe Pacheco of Paramount has been elected national vice president of the League of United Latin American Citizens, it was learned Friday.

Pacheco was also presented a plaque for outstanding work as state director of the LULAC in California. Another Paramount man—Paul Garcia—won the LULAC National Man of the Year award.

'Dead Man' Doing Fine

"I'm a dead man," Long Beach police quoted Robert Cromer, 38, of 6701 California Ave. "I'm just a walking dead man because the bullet is in my brain."

Officer David V. Radford, who answered the call at Cromer's North Long Beach home, said the attempted suicide victim pointed to a large lump on his left forehead, where the bullet protruded.

Radford said Cromer told him he shot himself because he was distressed over the results of recent surgery and family troubles.

The victim was reported in satisfactory condition Friday after undergoing brain surgery at Dominguez Valley Hospital.

Ousted Starr Awarded Post

Robert (Nick) Starr, ousted earlier this week in a shakeup of the Los Angeles Board of Harbor Commissioners by Mayor Sam Yorty, Friday said he has accepted a post on the Los Angeles County Health Commission.

Starr said he was urged to accept the post by Supervisor Warren Dorn. The appointment was confirmed by the supervisors on Thursday.

Crash Claims Beach Girl, 18

An 18-year-old Redondo Beach girl, injured in an auto collision on city streets shortly after 1 a.m., Friday, died about seven hours later in a Redondo hospital.

Sandra Keen, of 2115 Robinson St., reportedly died without regaining consciousness. Two Redondo men involved in the accident were not seriously injured.

CHIEF-OF-STAFF RETIRES

Capt. Frank N. Shamer (right) chief-of-staff for Pacific Mine Force Commander Rear Adm. Horace V. Bird, retired Friday after 30 years of naval service. Capt. M. J. Carpenter (left) Mine Force operations officer, took over the post. Capt. Shamer was awarded the Legion of Merit on May 12 for his work in arming the minesweeping boats in Vietnam. He served most of his career in submarines and won the Silver Star in World War II and plans a new career in education.

Pacific Airways Eases on Fare

Pacific Southwest Airways Friday amended its application for San Francisco-Santa Ana service by withdrawing a request for a low fare.

In a hearing in San Francisco, Pacific Southwest left it up to the State Public Utilities Commission whether the fare should be $13.33 or $14.85, presently charged by California Air — the only carrier now operating between Santa Ana and the San Francisco Bay area.

CALIFORNIA Air had protested that a $13.33 rate would cost it $600,000 a year. California Air also declared it would lose $4 million a year if Pacific Southwest took half its patronage.

PUC Examiner Richard Gravelle reserved decision on whether the amended application would be considered at the present hearing.

Friday had been scheduled as the final day. Nine hearings were held in Santa Ana before the case was moved to San Francisco Thursday.

New DC8 Approved by FAA

The largest commercial jetliner flying — the Douglas DC 8 Super 63 — was approved Friday for airline operation by the Federal Aviation Agency.

The company announced the decision on the newest of the Super 60 Series, which made its inaugural flight on April 10.

The company announced the decision on the newest of the Super 60 Series, which made its inaugural flight on April 10.

The aircraft is the same length as the DSS Super 61, now in domestic service with Delta and United Airlines, but has six feet more wingspan, more fuel capacity and 25,000 pounds more permissible takeoff weight.

THIS JETLINER is intended for operation over intercontinental routes with heavy traffic densities, carrying up to 259 passengers up to 4,500 miles — for instance, New York to Honolulu.

The increased capacity reduces direct operating costs to less than .6 cents per seat mile, Douglas said.

Cargo models can take payloads of over 1,000 tons.

KLM Royal Dutch Airlines is scheduled to take delivery on the first Super 63 early this month.

Police said Myran Reed, of Hawthorne, was treated by a company physician after the 10:30 a.m. blast at A&T Mobile Maintenance Co., 1501 W. 15th St.

The rear portion of the tank was blown clear of the truck bed and landed on a roof at 1508 Gaylord Ave. causing moderate damage, officers said.

Owner Colin B. Smith told officers the truck was in the yard for modification.

Burglar Nets $250

More than $250 in jewelry and cash was stolen from the home of Daniel F. Lewis, 7061 Eastondale Ave., Long Beach police said Friday. Officers said a burglar entered through an unlocked bedroom window.

A native of Oklahoma, he came to Long Beach in 1912, and was schooled at Poly High, UC College of Medicine, and College of Osteopathic Physicians & Surgeons, followed by postgraduate work in Europe.

Kirschke Case's Time Table Leaves Much Doubt

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last in a series of articles on the indictment of Assistant Dist. Atty. Jack Kirschke on charges of murdering his wife, Elaine, and Bill Drankhan.

By BOB SCHMIDT

On Jan. 3, when the jury members were sworn in, Superior Court Judge Robert Feinerman informed them of the grave responsibilities they were about to undertake.

He told them, "It is a serious and wounding thing for an individual to be confronted by the fact of an indictment and to face loss of reputation, standing and livelihood; and to be subjected to crippling expense and lasting disgrace. If he is in fact innocent, it is a tragic injustice."

Feinerman told the jurors their duties were specified by law. Among the statutes he defined for them was Section 939.8 of the Penal Code. He said:

"As to the degree of evidence sufficient to warrant the return of an indictment, the law specifically provides that an indictment should be found when all of the evidence before you, taken together, if unexplained or uncontradicted, would, in your judgment, warrant a conviction by a trial jury."

"Only when the evidence before you on a matter under consideration measures up to the standard so fixed by law should you return an indictment, for to do otherwise would be a violation of your oath."

Joseph A. Ball of Long Beach, a former president of the State Bar of California and a lawyer of national prominence, was asked about his interpretation of the statute.

"It means just what it says," Ball said. "The evidence in the transcript must permit a judge, reading only the transcript itself, to return a verdict of guilty beyond a reasonable doubt."

Thomas W. Cochran, former president of the Long Beach Bar Association and a long-time deputy district attorney, agreed.

"It means that if the transcript of the Grand Jury proceedings were submitted to a trial judge or a jury, that is, if both the prosecution and the defense agreed that guilt or innocence should be determined solely from that transcript, the evidence therein would have to be strong enough to enable the judge to convict the defendant," he said.

Would the 532-page transcript of the Kirschke case permit a guilty verdict to be returned if all a trial judge or a jury had before it was that transcript?

Among the 36 witnesses called were five whose testimony permits the construction of a time table which could be as much to Kirschke's advantage as it is to his disadvantage.

1. Mrs. Margaret Janes, a cocktail waitress at the Long Beach Yacht Club, testified she saw Elaine Kirschke and Bill Drankhan leave the club the morning of April 8. Asst. Atty. Gen. Albert W. Harris is questioning her.

Q—Nearer to 12:30 than to 1 a.m., let's say?

A—Well, I hate to say, but I would say it was—I would say it was closer to 1 than it was to 12:30.

2. Frank Cornell, who lived with his family in an apartment above the Kirschkes' at 185 Rivo Alto Canal, testified that he was awakened by "loud noises." In the jumble of recollections about the sleepy, 10-minute interlude in his slumber, he says there were sounds of "sexual activity," "people banging against the wall," "talking or arguing," and finally, "two loud noises," like "cabinet doors closing in the kitchen."

3-4. Two young men who work in a service station in Yermo, about 11 miles on the Las Vegas side of Barstow, say they believe Jack Kirschke was in the station between 2:30 and 3:30 the morning of April 8.

5. Barney Allen, an agent for the state Department of Justice's Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation, said that on May 13 he made a "time-test run" in connection with the case. Harris is questioning him:

Q—How long did it take you to drive from 185 Rivo Alto Canal to the Standard Station at Yermo?

A—Two hours and 23 minutes.

Q—Did you stop any place along the route?

A—No, sir.

Allen testified he stayed within speed limits, driving 65 miles per hour on the freeway. He said if the car he used in his test run had been in better condition, he might have made better time.

Q—Could you estimate how much less time?

A—I believe I could cut off at least 15 minutes.

The Grand Jury heard the testimony of two Yermo gas station attendants, Jean Ledet and Dennis Bailey.

Dennis Bailey only works on Friday nights at the station, he says. On April 7 he went to work at 11 p.m.

His testimony to the Grand Jury begins at Page 206 and ends on Page 243. He had difficulty, frequently, following Harris' questions, but is crystal clear on several points. On Page 219 he is relating to Harris his conversation with Sgt. Robert Castillo of the Long Beach Police Department, who questioned him a week after the murders.

Q—Did you say you had ever seen that man before?

A—I told him that on the night of April 8th that I had a conversation with that man.

Q—All right. You mean in the early morning hours of April 8th?

A—Yes.

Q—What was the conversation?

A—I was in the rest room cleaning the sink, and he came in, and Jean was in the back emptying garbage cans, and I knew there was someone out front, so I asked him if he would like to fill it up, and he said yes, he would. And then we had conversation about the weather, because it just rained, it was pretty cold, and the wind was blowing. That's all I said.

Harris asked Bailey about having recognized Kirschke from a picture shown him by Castillo.

Q—Now, one way or another, you did recognize the man in the photograph. You stated that to us this morning.

A—Yes.

Q—Now, how do you recall and how did you recognize this photograph?

A—He was the man that walked in the rest room.

The witness says he told Castillo that the man in the photograph came into the station "between 2:30 and 3:30."

Q—Could it have been as late as 4 a.m.?

A—No, it couldn't have.

Q—It could not?

A—No.

Q—Why not?

A—Because about that time Jean had been working going on 24 hours and he wanted to sleep, so he had just laid down to sleep—that was about 4 o'clock—and the drives got too packed, so he wasn't asleep yet, so I got him up to clear the drives out.

Q—What time did that happen?

A—About 4 o'clock.

Q—Well, isn't it possible that this man in the photograph came in sometime shortly prior to that, that is, in the vicinity of 4 a.m.?

A—No.

Ledet testified that when he was shown a picture of Kirschke by Sgt. Castillo, he could not remember it. Then he related his conversation on April 15 with Kirschke, who, along with private investigator Joe Carroll, made a time-test run in an attempt to find alibi witnesses.

Q—Now, when you saw Mr. Kirschke in person, could you recognize him as the man who had been in the station back on April 8th?

A—Not positively. The gentleman looks familiar. I cannot state to this day that it was definitely him.

Q—When you saw Mr. Kirschke in person, he did look familiar to you?

A—Yes.

Q—You had seen him before someplace, somewhere?

A—Yes, sir, at the time. Well, it could have related back to the photograph, but I don't think so because I had spoken to him somewhere, but I couldn't say where.

Q—Now, there was some mention of torn upholstery. Did Mr. Kirschke mention that to you?

A—He asked me—he

Q—What time did that happen?

A—About 4 o'clock.

Q—Well, isn't it possible that this man in the photograph came in sometime shortly prior to that, that is, in the vicinity of 4 a.m.?

A—No.

Ledet testified that when he was shown a picture of Kirschke by Sgt. Castillo, he could not remember it. Then he related his conversation on April 15 with Kirschke, who, along with private investigator Joe Carroll, made a time-test run in an attempt to find alibi witnesses.

Q—Now, when you saw Mr. Kirschke in person, could you recognize him as the man who had been in the station back on April 8th?

A—Not positively. The gentleman looks familiar. I cannot state to this day that it was definitely him.

Q—When you saw Mr. Kirschke in person, he did look familiar to you?

A—Yes.

Q—You had seen him before someplace, somewhere?

A—Yes, sir, at the time. Well, it could have related back to the photograph, but I don't think so because I had spoken to him somewhere, but I couldn't say where.

Q—Now, there was some mention of torn upholstery. Did Mr. Kirschke mention that to you?

A—He asked me—he

2:30 and 4 o'clock," and confirms that he had taken a catnap at 4.

Q—Was it sometime prior to that that this man came in that you had the conversation with?

A—I would say it was before that. Now, to swear to it, I cannot; no, sir, I cannot.

There is other conversation, and perhaps it persuaded the jury that the testimony of Bailey and Ledet was too vague to be given much weight. The effect of reading the transcript, however, does not make their testimony appear at all vague.

There is the possibility that Jack Kirschke committed murder!

Did the Los Angeles County Grand Jury believe there was more than a "possibility" of Kirschke's guilt when it indicted him on June 13?

If the answer is yes, then the transcript of the four-day hearing must support that answer.

If the answer is no, then the members of the Grand Jury who voted to indict Kirschke failed to understand or observe the oath they took when they were impanelled.

The Grand Jury is given other responsibilities. Its members were told by Judge Feinerman, for instance, that "You may receive none but legal evidence, and the best evidence in degree, to the exclusion of hearsay or secondary evidence."

Are members of the Grand Jury qualified to determine what "legal evidence" is? Are they qualified to recognize "hearsay" or "secondary evidence" when they hear it?

The suggestion here is that they are not.

Solon Team to Inspect Navy Test Station Sites

From Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON — A three-man House armed services special subcommittee has been appointed to study the proposed relocation and enlargement of the Pasadena Naval Ordnance Test Station.

The subcommittee is headed by Rep. Porter Hardy Jr., a Virginia Democrat who is also chairman of the subcommittee on special investigations, and includes Charles E. Bennett, D-Fla., and James V. Smith, R-Okla.

The subcommittee, appointed by Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., is expected to make an on-the-scene survey in Pasadena as well as at the Los Alamitos Naval Air Station, one of the proposed relocation sites for the test station.

The House removed the $8.4-million item for transferring NOTS from Pasadena to Los Alamitos but it remains in the Senate bill.

The study panel is expected to submit its report to Rivers before this conference, although it appeared Friday that the actual inspection of the sites involved will not be made before mid-July.

Removal of NOTS has been opposed strongly by Rep. H. Allen Smith, R-Glendale, who submitted a study showing it would cost almost $4 million more to relocate the facility at Los Alamitos than in Pasadena.

The Navy has testified that a new Pasadena site of 35 acres would cost $7.7 million, while the Los Alamitos site would entail no further land purchase.

THE STUDY was ordered after the Armed Services Committee ordered a year's delay on June 21 of its authorization of funds for moving NOTS.

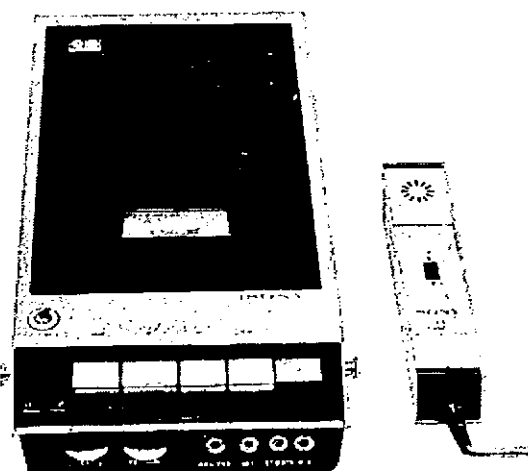

The delay left uncertain what might happen to the project later this year in a House-Senate conference on the military construction bill.

Fluorescent light fixtures worth $180 were stolen from a shed on Pier 1 owned by the Diver Corp., 111 E. Alder Brea, Long Beach police said Friday.

Capt. William Willis, who is 74 and looks every day of it, puts out to sea in his 11½-foot sailboat from Montauk Point, Long Island en route to Plymouth, England. Obviously inspired by Sir Francis Chichester, he hopes to set a record of some kind or other. No, he isn't sailing backward, the boat—heroically named "Little One"—has a rather blunt prow. A hernia stopped his last attempt in 1966.

The sudden absence of the heavy violence that racked the area from Tuesday through Thursday nights followed a long distance move by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to bring peace to the state's second largest city.

From Buffalo, Robinson went to the neighboring city of Niagara Falls where he told a group of 600 Negroes, "It's your community and you'll have to initiate programs here. If you're willing to solve your problems the state will try to help you."

MORE THAN 'JUST AN ALL-AMERICAN BOY'

Jimmy Brown Scoring as an Actor

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — "You don't want to be just an All-American boy all your life," said Jimmy Brown. "You have to be a man."

Since quitting professional football at the peak of his fame, the great Negro fullback has embarked on two careers—one paid, the other unpaid. He has become an actor and a race leader, and is doing well in both fields.

For his part in "The Dirty Dozen," one of three films he has completed, he received $40,000 and MGM has him under option for two more pictures.

Jimmy tries to be realistic about his future on stage and screen.

"I KNOW I need a lot more experience to become a good actor," he said. "I feel I can handle the big emotions all right—such as fear and anger—but I can't do the subtle things yet.

"I believe I can make it, however, if I progress slowly and stay within my range. For example, I wouldn't want to play a priest now. I don't know enough about priests.

"No," he laughed, "and I don't have any ambition to play Hamlet. But I would like to play the Emperor Jones when I'm ready."

Brown, who has grown a small goatee, has found acting more arduous, in a way, than football. His weight has dropped from 228 to 222.

"The only thing I miss about football is the tremendous feeling of having my body at its physical peak. You feel your best when you're working out every day during the season. But I don't miss the game itself."

Jimmy has been happily surprised by the camaraderie he has met with among his fellow actors.

"I was ready to have to protect myself because I had heard the movies were a cutthroat business," he admitted. "But everybody has gone out of his way to help me."

been active as national chairman of the Negro Industrial and Economic Union. Its membership is made up of outstanding Negro athletes, businessmen and professional people.

Its goal, said Brown, is to counteract the teachings of Black Nationalists "who warp the minds of young Negroes," and to emphasize "green power, not black power."

"Green power" stands for money—the economic improvement of the Negro. While acknowledging the continuing need of white help, Brown believes the time has come for American Negroes to lift themselves up by their own bootstraps.

"We want to change the idea of more passive resistance to one of active work toward bettering their own destiny," he said. "We want them to utilize all their resources fully—not just cry the blues. We've cried the blues too long."

"Eventually, the choice will lie between total freedom or concentration camp. So far, the administration has met the problem only by a hard line—by using police and national guard troops.

"But when they apply a curfew, it doesn't affect just rioters in the street. It affects all black people."

"You have to meet the issue with soul programs—programs that really help the Negro—or the end result will be that the black people will all be put in concentration camps."

L.B. Youth Plan 'Dimes' Benefit

Long Beach-area young people of college and upper high school age are pooling their talents to put on a variety show later this summer, with all proceeds to go to the March of Dimes.

"Angel" of the production is Jack Dilday, local head of the charity's drive.

Tim Connaghan, 19, a Long Beach City College student, says all kinds of talent can still be used singing, dancing, instrumental music, set designing and building, etc. Those interested are asked to contact him at his home, 4402 Radnor Ave., Lakewood.

It's all voluntary and amateur, Connaghan guarantees "experience, fun—and the satisfaction of doing something for a worthwhile cause."

BOOK REVIEWS

3 Gems From a Master of Suspense

THE PREMIER. THE TRAIN. (Two Novels). By Simonon. Harcourt, Brace, $4.95.

THE LITTLE SAINT. By Simonon. Harcourt, Brace, $4.50.

SUNDAY. THE LITTLE MAN FROM ARCHANGEL. (Two Novels). By Simonon. Harcourt, Brace, $4.95.

When a writer of thrillers can earn the praise of Andre Gide in these words: "Simonon is perhaps the greatest and most truly

'novellistic' novelist in French literature today... He makes one reflect; and this is close to being the height of art"—with such praise from Gide, Simonon indeed transcends the simple realm of the thriller, yet, of course sacrifices no iota of brilliant suspense.

The three books by Simonon under review are among his best. With the great psychological expertness characteristic of Simonon, he explores, in "The Premier," a man so powerful that he holds his nation's prestige in the palm of his hand. He who has traded his humanity for power finds that those who serve him have used him.

"The Train" is a study of a Caspar Milquetoast in the chaos of war, who finds, in the stampede for trains to escape the Nazis as they invade Belgium, excitement for the first time; with Anna, a Czech Jew, he discovers real love. But inhibitions, which turmoil has torn away, return inevitably.

Edmund Wilson has done much revision of these early works of fiction, published originally in the 1920s. "Galahad" is not quite a novella. It is a long short story of prep school boys early in the century, and of religion and sex in their lives. "I thought of Daisy" deals with Greenwich Village in the 1920s.

TO MOVE A NATION: The Politics of Foreign Policy Making in the Administration of John F. Kennedy. By Roger Hillsman. Doubleday, $6.95.

Hillsman, a key adviser on foreign policy in the thick of the crises of the Kennedy years, has blunt views, to put it mildly, about Johnson policies, Rusk, Harriman, McNamara, and the Senate.

'LAUREL WREATH' TO DAN GURNEY
Auto racing driver Dan Gurney (R) of Costa Mesa receives Lincoln-Mercury Division's first "Laurel Wreath" award for his "outstanding contribution to American and international auto racing," from E. F. Laux, a vice president of Ford Motor Co. and general manager of Lincoln-Mercury Division. Gurney is captain of Mercury competition team. He and A. J. Foyt drove a Ford Mark IV to victory in recent 24-hour endurance race at Le Mans, France.

VFW Names Officers at Fresno Meet

Lloyd Lindquist, of Anaheim, was named California department senior vice commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at the VFW annual meeting in Fresno.

Lindquist succeeds Kenneth Robbins, of Sacramento, who was advanced to department commander by the more than 4,000 veterans who are attending the week-long meeting that ends today.

DREW PEARSON

Tough Newsmen Bring Erring Solons Censure

By DREW PEARSON
and
JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Most people have forgotten the circumstances under which another senator from Connecticut, Hiram Bingham, a Republican, was censured. The man who deserves credit is John A. Kennedy, then a reporter for Universal Service, part of the far-flung Hearst newspaper empire, later publisher of the Sioux Falls, S.D., Argus-Leader.

In 1928, Congress was writing the Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act, and Kennedy heard that Sen. Bingham was paying a lobbyist from Connecticut $1,000 a month from Senate funds to sit in on Senate Finance Committee hearings. Kennedy finally got Sen. Pat Harrison, D-Miss., to check the Senate payroll and Charles Eyanon's name was discovered.

Kennedy interviewed him. Naively, Eyanon told of his work to protect Connecticut manufacturers, and during the course of their conversation he went out to take a call from Joe Grundy, head of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association and a power in GOP politics.

Kennedy then noted on Eyanon's desk a telegram to a Connecticut gunstock manufacturer informing him that Eyanon was protecting the tariff on gunstocks. Eyanon sent the wire as a representative of the Connecticut Manufacturers Association, which put him in a direct conflict of interest.

When Eyanon came back, Kennedy asked him for copies of some of the work he was doing including the telegram. Eyanon obliged.

Kennedy's subsequent newspaper story caused the Senate to censure Sen. Bingham. Kennedy was nominated for a Pulitzer award by the nominating committee, but it was overruled by the Pulitzer top brass.

This was the fourth censure of a senator in American history. The fifth was that of Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin; the sixth that of Tom Dodd.

THE ORIGIN of McCarthy's censure came Dec. 22, 1953, with a Washington Merry-Go-Round column reporting that Gerard David Schine, a former McCarthy investigator, was the object of favoritism after being drafted into the Army at Ft. Dix, N.J.

"Two or three times a week Roy Cohn, counsel for McCarthy's committee, has called the commanding officer to ask how Gerard David was getting along," this column reported.

"The senator," said Cohn ominously, "wants to know."

"Finally Gen. Cornelius Ryan, commander of the 19th Infantry Division, could take it no longer. He got in touch with the secretary of the Army, Robert Stevens, explained the constant interference of Joe McCarthy's counsel, asked him what he should do about it."

"General," replied the secretary of the Army, "this is one you've got to handle yourself."

Cohn's harassment continued and on Feb. 15, 1954, this column reported how Schine "led a charmed life in the Army" and now "though only a private, superior officers almost bow and scrape before him." One officer who didn't, the commander of the Provost Marshal's School at Camp Gordon, Ga., Col. Francis Kreidel, who had the temerity to protest against Schine's assignment to the Provost Marshal's School, was transferred to Tokyo.

More details were reported regarding McCarthy's intervention to have Schine transferred from basic training at Fort Dix direct to the Provost Marshal's School even though no one is admitted to that school unless "under regulation 615-215-1 he has two years' service and unless he has the rank of corporal or higher. Schine had only four months' service and is a private."

THE COLUMN reported how McCarthy bulldozed the Army into giving Schine his weekends off to come to Washington; and how Roy Cohn protested when Schine at the Provost Marshal's School was given a job learning to direct traffic. "Cohn wanted his friend to go direct into criminal investigation, not horse around with basic police training and traffic problems," the column reported.

"Mr. Cohn was so upset about this that he has been telephoning the office of Secretary of the Army Stevens demanding that Schine be spared this basic training. If Gerard is not spared, Roy warns, he is going to see to it that the secretary of the Army is fired."

Ten days later Sen. McCarthy, sore at the treatment given his assistant Schine and irked over alleged Army leaks to this column, summoned Secretary of the Army Stevens before his committee to answer charges of communism at Fort Monmouth, N.J., adjacent to Fort Dix.

Thus began the Army-McCarthy investigation during which McCarthy was so highbanded toward various Army officers that the Senate finally decided to investigate McCarthy himself.

Just as the Senate ducked some of the more serious charges in the Dodd case, the Senate also ducked much of McCarthy's more serious behavior and confined the motion of censure directly to his treatment of fellow senators.

THOUGH THE Air Force evacuated the 8,000 American families living at Wheelus Air Force Base in Tripoli and tightened security there, Arab saboteurs managed to sneak onto the base and do some damage. The Libyan government has now demanded that the United States pull out, and the Air Force has now notified President Johnson that Wheelus is not really essential. Irony is that the base was used to train dozens of Libyan pilots at a Moroccan expense . . . Morocco in contrast has carefully protected U.S. government property. When the VMT, Morocco's largest labor union, started demonstrating against the U.S.A., the government banned all demonstrations.

Another meeting of the negotiators is scheduled for July 10, the day before Congress returns from its fourth of July recess. A Senate-House conference committee then will attempt to reach agreement on the administration's bill to end a strike threat by the unions.

The Senate has approved a compulsory arbitration bill, which the House rejected. The House, on the other hand, approved legislation simply extending a strike deadline for 90 days.

THE LINGERING SHADOW

Critics Reject Facts That Don't Fit Theories

Seventh in a Series

Much ado has been made by Warren Commission critics about which stretcher bore President John F. Kennedy and which one was used to transport Texas Gov. John B. Connally.

It all centers on a bullet — one that was found on one of the stretchers. The critics claim a happenstance shell game with the stretchers confused the issue of just how the president was killed and the governor wounded.

Once again the critics picked facts which supported their theory and ignored those which displeased them.

AT FIRST, it was thought Bullet 399 — the center of the controversy — came from the president's stretcher. And that fit in with the speculation that a bullet had hit the president in the back and exited during external heart massage. But the autopsy was to show that this didn't happen.

The commission determined that the bullet came from Connally's stretcher.

Edward Jay Epstein here goes back to autopsy surgeon Col. Pierre Finck, saying his testimony "cannot be dismissed merely because it collided with the hypothesis that Bullet 399 was found on Connally's stretcher. Since Finck's categorical statement that this bullet could not have caused Connally's wrist wound was never challenged, disputed or corrected, it can only be concluded from the evidence that Bullet 399 did not come from Connally's stretcher."

EPSTEIN should turn to Vol. V, page 90, where he will find the testimony of Dr. Alfred G. Olivier, an expert on bullet wounds.

This exchange took place:

"Q: Do you have an opinion as to whether, in fact, Bullet 399 did cause the wound on the governor's wrist, assuming if you will that it was the missile found on the governor's stretcher at Parkland Hospital?"

"Dr. Olivier: I believe it was. That is my feeling."

There also was testimony from Drs. Robert Shaw, George T. Shires and Charles F. Gregory that they thought one bullet caused all of Connally's wounds. Shires testified that Drs. Robert McClelland, Charles Baxter and Ralph Don Patman concurred.

THE CRITICS each say that because of the movement of the stretchers it could not be determined to a certainty that the bullet came from Connally's stretcher or didn't come from the president's stretcher. Darrel Tomlinson, the Parkland Hospital engineer who found the bullet, could not identify the stretcher positively. There were two stretchers in the corridor where the bullet was found.

Epstein says, "Since all stretchers were eventually returned to this area to be remade, the key question was: Was Kennedy's stretcher returned before or after the bullet was found? This question was never answered."

Not so.

TOMLINSON had testified he had come to the elevator area at around 1 p.m. and found a stretcher which had some sheets on it. He pushed this stretcher from the elevator into the corridor. Then he took the elevator to the second floor, brought down a man who picked up two pints of blood, and returned with him to the second floor where Connally was in surgery. He then made several trips between the ground floor and second floor before discovering the bullet.

Nurse Diana Hamilton Bowron testified she was in Trauma Room 1 with the president until his body was taken off the stretcher and placed in a casket. The stretcher, she said, was stripped of its sheets and then wheeled into Trauma Room 2, which was empty.

NURSE Margaret M. Henchcliffe gave similar testimony and was asked:

"Is it possible that the stretcher that Mr. Kennedy was on was rolled with the sheets on it down into the area near the elevator?"

"No sir."

"Are you sure of that?"

"I am positive of that."

Nurse Doris Mae Nelson testified she was standing near the entrance to Trauma Room 2 when the president's stretcher, clear of sheets, was moved into it.

EXHIBIT 392, containing Parkland Hospital records, has a statement saying that the president was taken out of the hospital in a casket about 2 p.m. Testimony from the doctors and hospital personnel says the president remained on the stretcher until his body was says he has since determined further into this question, mined from nurse Doris Nelson that the time was closer to 2:10 p.m. Either way, it would be long after the bullet had been discovered.

Could it have been planted, as critic Harold Weisberg suggests?

To buy that, it is necessary to conjure a being of superior intelligence, craftiness and prophesy who could have designed a bullet which would not be too heavy or light to conform to fragments found in the governor's wounds; that would have had the proper condition had it gone through the president's neck alone, and perhaps smashed into the limousine. And what if another bullet had also been found?

IF THERE was one way to explode the single-bullet theory, it remained in the results of the autopsy report, which will be examined in detail. If Mark Lane, Epstein or Weisberg can demonstrate that this report is at fault and that the president never suffered a back-to-front neck wound, out goes the theory — and along with it the case against Lee Harvey Oswald as the lone assassin.

So the autopsy doctors did their work. They examined. They drew diagrams. They photographed. They drew a dot. And now there are those that claim the dot and the photographs show the doctors didn't do their work at all. Or the commission didn't.

Next: The Warren Commission's big mistake.

Fiscal '67 Ends; Color It Deep Red

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government ended another fiscal year Friday with the second biggest splash of red ink in the nation's "peace-time" history.

And the deficit is expected to grow even larger in the fiscal year beginning today even if Congress raises taxes to help pay for the Vietnam war and stem inflation.

Although the tabulation of final tax and spending figures won't be completed for another three weeks, Treasury officials estimated the year-end deficit at about $11 billion, exceeded only by those of World War I, World War II and fiscal 1959.

EVEN THE deficits during the Korean War failed to exceed the current one.

The latest estimate for the fiscal year beginning today is a deficit of about $13.6 billion without any major escalation of troop strength in Vietnam.

The Vietnam war is largely responsible for the heavy deficits in both the old and the new fiscal years.

When the administration first submitted its budget in January 1966 for the fiscal year just ended, it estimated a deficit of $1.8 billion based on receipts of $111 billion and spending of $112.8 billion.

But its estimate of Vietnam spending at that time — $10.5 billion — fell far short of reality. Last January, Vietnam spending was officially upped to $19.9 billion and officials now expect it to reach $20.4 billion by the time the bills are totaled.

LBJ Hikes
Permanent Debt Ceiling

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson signed Friday legislation raising the permanent ceiling on the national debt from $285 billion to $358 billion — with a temporary increase to $365 billion for fiscal 1969 which starts a year from today.

The debt Friday stood at $327 billion, covered by temporary increases which have been sought by the administration and granted by Congress regularly.

The present temporary limit is $336 billion, and that figure expired at midnight.

Just as the Senate ducked some of the more serious charges in the Dodd case, the Senate also ducked much of McCarthy's more serious behavior and confined the motion of censure directly to his treatment of fellow senators.

THOUGH THE Air Force evacuated the 8,000 American families living at Wheelus Air Force Base in Tripoli and tightened security there, Arab saboteurs managed to sneak onto the base and do some damage. Record 71 Yachts in Race to Honolulu

The largest number of entries in ocean racing's oldest classic will charge the starting line Tuesday — destination Honolulu. Seventy-one of the finest blue water yachts will respond to the starting cannon for the biennial Los Angeles to Honolulu race.

The longest regularly scheduled ocean sailing race in the world — covering 2,225 miles — will get under way at noon. The fleet competing this year far exceeds the 55 boats participating in 1965.

Experts claim Cornelius Bruynzeel's South African ketch Stormvogel stands a good chance to break the 1965 record run of the Tic-enderoga.

The 73-foot yawl Audacious and Jim Kilroy's Ki-loa II are also expected to be nipping at the stern of the top contenders, with an unknown, the 72-foot ketch Whistle Wing, in contention.

Fighter Pilot Dies in Crash

A fighter pilot died and the three-man crew of a transport helicopter escaped with injuries in two Marine Corps air crashes Friday in Orange County.

1st Lt. Alan V. Kuehn, 24, attached to Fighter Squadron 334 at El Toro Marine Corps Air Station east of Santa Ana, was killed when his Crusader jet slammed into a Santa Ana mountain peak near Trabuco Canyon.

The three men aboard a Sea Knight twin-rotor helicopter miraculously escaped with their lives when the craft crashed on the Santa Ana Marine Corps Air Facility.

Capt. Gordon R. Jefferson, 25, of Santa Ana, was thrown from the craft — still strapped to his seat — when the heavy chopper crashed on a touch-and-go training mission at the air facility apron at about 11:15 a.m. The co-pilot, 1st Lt. Richard Blanchfield, 26, of Tustin, and the crew chief, Cpl. Paul A. Souza, 21, of Portsmouth, R.I., were trapped in the wreckage.

THE TWO OFFICERS were transferred to Long Beach Naval Hospital after emergency treatment at the El Toro station dispensary. They were reported suffering from head injuries and internal injuries. Cpl. Souza remained in the station dispensary.

It was the first crash for the heavy Sea Knight aboard the air facility; all others which have crashed went down away from the station.

The crash of the Crusader er occurred at about 9:15 a.m., only minutes after Lt. Kuehn and his wingman, Maj. Edward Clanton, 34, had taken off together from the station's long runway. They flew into a cloud cover at about 2,000 feet and Major Clanton said that when he broke into clear weather, Lt. Kuehn's plane was missing. The disintegrated wreckage was spotted moments later as fire roared over the hillside, blanketing about 20 acres of brush and range land.

Lt. Kuehn was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell A. Kuehn, of Petaluma.

Danger in Sniff of Laughing Gas

By BEN ZINSER
Medical-Science Editor

A doctor warned Friday of the dangers of uncontrolled sniffing of laughing gas.

The report, in California Medicine, official journal of the California Medical Association, was authored by Dr. John B. Dillon, an anesthesiologist affiliated with UCLA School of Medicine.

Laughing gas is technically nitrous oxide, an inhalation anesthetic.

Dr. Dillon said manufacturers of the gas are reporting thefts of gas-containing cylinders in the Greater Los Angeles area.

The danger is that users (youngsters are sniffing it for kicks) can suffer mental derangement of a temporary nature, Dr. Dillon told The Independent Press-Telegram in an interview amplifying his report to the medical profession.

Dr. Dillon said a priest was the first to alert him to the fact that the anesthetic is being abused by promiscuous uncontrolled use.

"I suspect that the young man who has come for advice and direction is in deep trouble," the priest told Dr. Dillon. "He has been experimenting with nitrous oxide, on his own, without professional direction of any kind."

"He has been using one six-pound cylinder once a week—all in one day. Straight out of the cylinder, through a tube into his mouth."

"He has had nine auto accidents while under the influence—some on the freeway! With the tube in his mouth!"

BOTH DR. DILLON and the priest say they have informed the California Highway Patrol and police and sheriff's departments of the significance of a nitrous oxide cylinder in a private vehicle.

A major Long Beach supplier of the gas to hospitals and oral surgeons said Friday he was tightening his security in the marketing and distribution of nitrous oxide.

Users of the gas say it makes them happy and relaxed.

Dr. Paul H. Lorhan, chief physician of the anesthesiology department at Harbor General Hospital, Torrance, says that one of the greatest hazards of uncontrolled use of nitrous oxide is that the user may enter the "excitement stage" of anesthesia and remain there.

AT THIS STAGE, he says, the patient has no control over his reflexes.

"He doesn't care what he's doing," says Dr. Lorhan, a widely known anesthetic authority.

Dr. Lorhan says users "get a jag on and experience exhilaration."

Dr. Dillon said that nitrous oxide is also found as a cream whip propellant and thus is sold without prescription. It is also used to correct certain racing-car engine deficiencies.

Dr. Dillon terms the fad "frightening."

U.S. May Take Hand in Dispute of L.B. Bus Company, Union

The Federal Mediation Service was studying the possibility Friday of entering a dispute between 220 local bus drivers and mechanics and the Long Beach Public Transportation Co.

A two-year contract between the company and the Amalgamated Transit Union, which represents the operators and mechanics, expired at midnight Friday.

Both sides in the dispute, however, denied that there was any imminent danger of a strike against the bus line — although a spokesman for the union did not rule out the possibility of a walkout at some later date.

"This might be the year of the long, hot summer for us," said Homer Porcher, president of the union.

Porcher said the drivers and mechanics were scheduled to meet Monday to decide whether to give union leaders the authority to set a strike date.

Meanwhile, the transit firm has turned down a union proposal offering to take the dispute to arbitration.

Earlier Friday, a mediation service spokesman said his office planned to enter the dispute if the arbitration request were turned down. However, the fact that the two sides might meet early next week could persuade the service to postpone any intervention.

The union has said negotiations have broken off, but William Farrell, general manager of the bus line, later said he expects the two sides to resume bargaining.

THE PRESENT bargaining impasse was reached Wednesday, when, according to the union, the company refused to boost its offer of 9 cents an hour in wages and benefits.

The union has set no figure on its demands, but it wants improved health, welfare and pension benefits, and it wants wages more closely approximating what drivers are getting elsewhere in the county.

Porcher mentioned a figure of $3.40 an hour and said drivers in Torrance, Santa Monica and Los Angeles are making better pay than Long Beach operators. Local drivers get $2.97 an hour.

FARELL SAID the going rate for bus drivers in the county ranges from $2.75 to $3.25 an hour.

The general manager also refused to concede that the company's total offer amounted to 9 cents an hour, asserting that the situation was "more involved than that."

It's understood that the company has told union officials that a strike threat could lead to a city takeover of the bus operation. The line is now owned by the city and operated by a non-profit corporation.

By taking it over completely, the city presumably would make the drivers civil servants and thereby take away their right to strike.

Farrell would say no more than that "it could be done."

Good Jobs Offered at City Hall

Job opportunities for a chemist with the Water Department and a senior administrative analyst in general city government were announced this week by the Civil Service Board.

The chemist's position is open to citizens with a college degree in chemistry or chemical engineering. The job pays a monthly range of $673 to $830.

APPLICATIONS for the Water Department job will be accepted through July 14.

A college degree in public administration, business administration, political science or a closely related field, and four years' experience in appropriate fields is required of the senior administrative analyst. The monthly salary range for the position is $830 to $1,025.

Applications for the analyst post will be accepted through July 10.

Additional information and application forms for both jobs may be obtained from the Civil Service Board, 332 Municipal Utilities Building, 215 W. Broadway.

New Chamber Boss LaBelle Says Think 1970, Plan 1980

Ernest W. LaBelle, manager of the Area Development Division of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce since 1962, was appointed Friday by the board of directors to succeed Harry J. Krusz as executive vice president and general manager.

Krusz is retiring. LaBelle takes office on Aug. 1.

Gene M. Bishop, chamber president, said, "A selection steering committee of 15 community leaders screened 54 applicants from Long Beach and across the nation. Mr. LaBelle is, in our opinion, eminently qualified to fill this important position in our community so well administered by Harry J. Krusz."

FOLLOWING HIS appointment, LaBelle said, "We must think 1970 and plan 1980. By that I mean that many important projects will be crystallizing between now and 1970. But we must also be thinking far beyond 1970 in terms of what kind of city we want to be. We must always have primary responsibility for our market area and certainly every business center. But most of the nation's major cities are going to be rebuilt and renewed with emphasis on the central district."

"Those cities which do the most functional job, which give the widest range of choice in urban living, will be most successful and prosperous. We hope to establish clear-cut goals and move our community forward for the best interests of all business centers and residential areas, for the total environment.

"And we must take a hard look at our role in the metropolitan area and strengthen our relationships with Los Angeles and Orange County. This is becoming a super-city."

LaBelle, who is 36, graduated with an Associate Arts degree in journalism from Long Beach City College. He received his bachelor's degree in journalism and economics at USC. He was reporter and political editor for the San Gabriel Valley Daily Tribune. He became manager of the West Covina Chamber of Commerce. Later he was assistant manager to the Industrial Department of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. He was public relations representative of the Western Division of Tidewater Oil Co.

He is married and has three children.

MASTER ANTENNA SYSTEM URGED

Oil Islands Blamed for TV Blur

Metal derricks and electrical equipment on the offshore oil islands have "seriously affected" television reception in a large part of Long Beach, a local contractor charged Friday.

In a letter filed with the city clerk, general contractor Lee Brown, 3049 E. Ocean Blvd., called on the city to erect a master antenna system for home TV sets.

Brown said the trouble comes from reflected signal waves, or double image, from the metal frame and covering of the derricks, and electrical interference from generating operations on the islands.

This results in an "out of sync" condition of "uncontrollable rolling or fluttering of picture and sound" on one or all channels, he said.

Brown said the solution is for the city to erect a master antenna system atop one or more high-rise buildings or tower locations, connected to a distribution system on existing utility poles or underground. Signal boosters would be needed at each TV unit served, he said.

"This was the only solution in Laguna Beach and Palm Springs, among others," Brown wrote, but in these specific instances, signal interference was from natural obstruction of terrain, rather than from man-made structural and operational obstruction, created specifically for corporate profit."

Brown questioned whether "basic individual rights of freedom of use and benefit of air space over and above private property" have been "willfully abrogated, damaged or violated" by the oil drilling operations.

Install New C of C Slate

About 350 persons gathered Friday night for the Torrance Chamber of Commerce's annual membership meeting and banquet.

A highlight of the program was the installation of new officers and directors, headed by Larry Bowman, a partner in the Torrance law firm of Hitchcock and Bowman, who will be 1967-68 president.

Others installed were George M. Ebert, first vice president; Leonard A. Ensminger, second vice president, and Harry B. Gorman, treasurer.

Annual architectural merit awards were presented to Bullock's Fashion Square, Crocker-Citizens National Bank, the Electron Dynamics Division of Hughes Aircraft Co., Sam's Cafe, Ted Green Chevrolet, Toyota Motor Sales U.S.A. Inc., and Volvo Western Distributing Inc.

Council Takes 'Bridge' Stance on Mideast

Stating it is "neither pro-Arab nor pro-Israeli," the National Council of Churches has set up an emergency Middle East Task Force for the relief of human suffering in the war's aftermath.

The 40-man force is already at work expediting aid to those who need it, and to study "ways for churches to make distinctive contributions toward building a lasting peace in the Middle East."

In a formal statement setting forth the council's position on the Mideast situation, Dr. R. H. Edwin Espy, secretary general, made clear that the church group's position was hopelessly torn between the contending claims, by mentioning both the Arab refugee situation and the need of Israel for security. Debaters in the U.N. rarely bring in both these points.

TEXT OF the statement by the council, which is composed of 30 Protestant and Orthodox denominations with an inclusive membership of 41,950,000, follows:

"The National Council of Churches is neither pro-Arab nor pro-Israeli. Its central objective is the establishment of a just and viable peace throughout the Middle East. Its deepest concern at this stage of the continuing crisis is for all those who are suffering in the existing situation. Anguished men and women, Arab and Israeli, must take priority over traditional nationalism in the Christian conscience.

"The Council shares guilt and does repentance for the fact that the suffering is of long standing.

"Since 1948 the Arab peoples have agonized over the fate of a million Palestinian refugees living in abject poverty. Now they bear as well the humiliation of military defeat. They must grieve over dead not yet counted. We share their grief.

"THE ISRAELI people have suffered anxiety for their national security. It is our hope that this anxiety will now be relieved and that Israel will be generous in her victory in preparation for a new day of peace and understanding in the Middle East.

"The ambiguities of given historical circumstances such as the crisis in the Middle East demand the Council's commitment, not to political ideologies, but to practical ways of the rescue and repair of human relations. The work of reconciliation must be the task of everyone. This is not the time to acquiesce in unilateral action. Through the United Nations we support the search for justice by collective judgment. Through the World Council of Churches we join in major efforts to finance relief of the homeless and starving.

At other times, through appropriate channels, we will address ourselves to substantial ways in which we believe reconciliation can be structured into economic, political, and social institutions related to the Middle East."

Downey Methodist Greets 2 Ministers

Among changes in area Methodist church assignments announced at the conclusion of the Southland conference in Redlands, Rev. Mark W. Gress, associate pastor of Lakewood Community Methodist Church, moves to Downey Methodist Church in the same capacity.

Downey Methodist, at 10801 S. Downey Ave., will also greet Rev. Carol J. Schowalter, first woman to be named an associate pastor in the history of the conference.

Rev. C. P. Hamby Jr. is pastor of the 2,300-member church.

DR. GLENN ARCHER Will Speak Twice

Archer Heads 'Patriot' Day at Truett Baptist

An area-wide rally designed to emphasize patriotism and freedom will be hosted by Truett Memorial Baptist Church Sunday, with services set at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Dr. Glenn Archer, executive director of Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State, is being flown from Washington, D.C. by the local church to deliver two key addresses.

Program will include presentation of the flag, the chancel choir singing Fred Waring's arrangement of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," and two young members of the church giving recitations of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address and the poem "Hats Off, the Flag is Passing By." The congregation will join in pledges to the American flag, the Christian flag and the Holy Bible.

With Dr. Paul Brooks Leath as pastor, the church at 3435 San Anselme Ave., has a recently completed sanctuary and is one of California's largest Southern Baptist churches.

Why LSD 'Experience' Cannot Be Religious

(The following discussion is by Robert Peel, author and editorial consultant to the Christian Science Church. It is taken from an internationally broadcast radio dialogue on "Students and Drugs.")

Drug-taking needs to be looked at in a broader focus—in terms of the basic issues it involves.

What is man basically?

Is he really just a physicochemical organism? Is he a chance configuration of atoms and molecules and genes? Is he just an accidental product of a biological process? And is successful living simply a sort of adjustment to a material environment—a physical and chemical adjustment?

This is the assumption on which most drug-taking rests.

But drugs deal with surface effects, with symptoms—not with causes. They don't do anything about basic troubles, which are left to fester beneath the surface. And they cannot bring the sort of peace and satisfaction that comes as we really confront our problems and intelligently solve them.

What about LSD? Some people who have taken LSD say it gave them their deepest religious experience. They are raising important questions that we all need to ask ourselves.

CAN RELIGION BE reduced to chemistry? There's a craving for unity in people. But is man's unity with the rest of the universe the unity of billions of dancing atoms?

That's the sort of experience which people have spoken of who have taken LSD—a sort of pantheistic absorption in the material universe.

Is this what the New Testament means when it speaks of God, and says, "In Him we live, and move, and have our being?"

One of the central points of Christianity is the immortality of individual identity—the fact that man is not just a material organism which crumbles into dust and merges with the universe. He derives his existence from the Mind that is God and he has a deathless reality in that Mind.

What about things like intelligence and love, or patience and courage and generosity, honesty—are all these things merely a matter of chemistry? Or are they qualities of mind and spirit, which must come from a different source?

ATOMS CAN'T CREATE intelligence or love out of themselves. And if we conceive of God as the divine Mind, the divine Spirit, then we see that these qualities must ultimately derive from Him.

I have seen this come to people as a concrete experience with far greater force than an LSD trip. The consciousness of man's individual relationship with God, his individual oneness, has come with such power that it has raised them up from material circumstances that had seemed almost crushing.

The effect is to free us from slavery to material conditions—not to make us dependent on materiality in the form of a drug.

The LSD experience, however, mystical, is not comparable in any way with the deep, powerful experience of Christianity, of finding one's real unity with God in a meaningful way that affects all the details of life.

'TEEN LINE' TACKLES MARIJUANA

"Teen Line," which created a sensation with down-to-earth talks about sex problems, is once again being flooded with calls by young people on its new series, dealing with marijuana, reports Rev. Jim Pfingstel, youth minister of El Dorado Park Community Church, which sponsors the program.

Teens who call 598-2220 are being told that marijuana is not a "harmless, gentle, beautiful thing." They are given documented, researched facts about its use in popular terminology.

The two-minute recordings are changed Wednesday night and Sunday noon. Callers remain anonymous.

CONFIDENT LIVING
'The Pursuit of Happiness'

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

From time to time it is good to do some thinking about happiness and what makes for it. With our greatest patriotic holiday coming up this would seem a fitting time. The Declaration of Independence, commemorated on the Fourth of July, proclaims the pursuit of happiness a basic human right.

In June 1776 the Continental Congress, composed of delegates from 13 American Colonies, decided to renounce allegiance to the British Crown and sever all political ties with Great Britain. They appointed a committee of five to draft a suitable proclamation. Among the five: Benjamin Franklin, age 70 and by far the most famous member of the Congress; and two future presidents of the United States: John Adams of Massachusetts, age 41, and Thomas Jefferson of Virginia, age 33.

The committee asked Jefferson to do the actual writing. After consultation, principally with Franklin and Adams, he wrote a remarkable document. It was submitted to the Congress and after an all-day debate, with Adams vigorously defending its merits, was by unanimous vote accepted on July 4, 1776 with only minor changes and a few deletions. Thus Jefferson's inspired draft became the official Declaration of Independence.

IT SAYS: "We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." Notice the basic right is not happiness, but the pursuit of happiness. The philosophers of our American Revolution wisely avoided the guarantee of happiness. Inasmuch as it depends largely upon a person's mental attitude no government could confer it. But they did guarantee the right to pursue happiness. Believe me, that is quite a right.

The Founding Fathers had their views on what is conducive to happiness, and some of Jefferson's ideas on this subject are stated in his inaugural address.

Rehabilitation on Alcoholics Told by Corps

A work therapy program is the key to rehabilitation of alcoholics by the Salvation Army, it was reported this week by Maj. George W. Duplain, men's social secretary in charge of the Army's rehabilitation setup in 13 Western states.

He was here this week for a one-day symposium of rehabilitation leaders from 10 Southland cities. He related the good results of a special five-year program in San Francisco, where 23 per cent of the men who stayed in the program past 30 days were "still sober and employed" two years later.

The typical man in the rehabilitation program, Maj. Duplain said, is "about 45 years old, slightly above the national average in education," and needs to be in the center six months.

The Long Beach center at 1370 Alamitos Ave., headed by Lt. Col. Ranson Gifford, has a 75-man capacity and serves 21 cities.

Hippies and Oriental Religion
The following letter was received by religion editor Les Rodney.

Dear Sir: Your article May 18 on hippies and religion was very welcome. But not once did I see the words Zen, or Buddhism, or Hinduism, which the hippies are closer to than other religions.

If you wish to get really "hip" I suggest you listen to KPFC FM 1:30 a.m. Mondays and Fridays. Jim Garris does a program on 'The Mystic Circle. It is very eclectic.

I personally discount the spiritualism and the phenomena but I am interested in Neumana, the true mystic.

The churches have failed miserably.

Catholics Now Stress Preaching
Vatican II Spurred Greater Attention to Sermons

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religious Writer

Preaching, which in the past took a secondary role in the Roman Catholic Mass, is being stressed today as essential to full-gauged worship.

"It's a real change, a recognition of the prime importance of the 'Word' in generating and deepening faith," says Rev. John Burke of Washington, a Catholic specialist on using the pulpit.

The trend is part of a two-way development in which Catholic worship, long concentrated on the sacraments, is giving more attention to the sermon, while Protestant services, characteristically focused on preaching, are restoring the symbolic aspects.

The tendencies, as liturgical scholars see it, point to a balancing of the two elements in both traditions. Among Catholics, the accent on preaching was spurred by the Second Vatican Council, which ordered a stop to the casual omission of sermons, and called them the prime means of spreading the gospel.

In its decree on the ministry, the council said: "The preaching of the Word is needed for the very administration of the sacraments. For these are sacraments of the faith and faith is born of the Word and nourished by it."

POPE PAUL, on the same theme, stressed in his Ecclesium Suam encyclical "the extreme importance of preaching." "No other form of communication can take its place," he said. "Preaching is the primary apostolate. Our apostolate... is above all the ministry of the Word."

To implement that evaluation, and to upgrade the caliber of preaching, Roman Catholic seminaries are stepping up training in that field, and various refresher seminars have been held for pastors to polish up their pulpit approach.

Notable among such programs is the Catholic University of America's Summer Workshop on Preaching, held annually since 1958. Its aim, says its director, Father Burke, is "to build good preachers." And this isn't just a matter of sharpening up rhetorical technique, he added, but of getting pastors to abandon their "clerical tone" and stereotyped generalities and to start dealing forthrightly with modern men's questions.

He said this demands "bridging the gap" between the sacred mysteries and "the reality of daily life," and tackling frankly the complexities of existence today, including "the fact that religion is one of those complexities."

"Many Catholics have been taught the truth without being given the means to believe it," he said. He added that it is up to preaching to "present that truth in terms so that people actually believe" in the context of the 20th century.

"ULTIMATELY religious proclamation must square with one's own experience of reality, and must take into account the experience of people in their contemporary lives," he said.

"God does not work in a vacuum. He works in the experience of every day life. And preachers must learn to appreciate that fact... that God is in this world, that there really has been an incarnation."

For the workshops, some prominent talent has been enlisted as teachers, including: Pittsburgh's Bishop John Wright; Rev. Barnabas Ahern, noted biblical scholar of St. Meinrad, Ind.; Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn.; Rev. Edward W. Bauman, a leading Methodist minister of Washington; Rev. Bernard Haring of Yale, a famed moral theologian, and Rev. Raymond E. Brown, a liturgical expert, of Baltimore.

Father Burke, 38, once an Army specialist in psychological warfare, later a network television director and now a Dominican teacher of drama and homiletics, cites some of the tips to good preaching, including:

—Use a conversational, rather than an oratorical style.

—Speak as if talking with an individual person, no matter how many in the audience.

—Relate principles directly to specific questions and real-life problems.

—Avoid especially the abstract phrase, the "sacred eloquence," the glittering generality; keep language within the range of contemporary experience.

—Keep always in mind the needs, interests, uncertainties, aspirations and psychological frame of mind of the people.

—The preacher must get over the fear of revealing himself, and must disclose his own questions, problems and searching, rather elevated image of himself.

—Don't be satisfied merely to inform or exhort, but seek to touch the heart of the whole man.

—Ordinarily, the first three-quarters of a sermon draft can be discarded, retaining only the last part, which gets to the point.

—Don't wait until Saturday night to prepare it, but begin mulling it over and making preliminary notes early in the week, to give ideas a time to jell.

Pike, Peal Views on Morality

YOU & THE NEW MORALITY, by James A. Pike. Harper & Row, $3.95.

SIN, SEX AND SELF-CONTROL, by Norman Vincent Peale, Fawcett, 60 cents.

When someone as controversial as former Episcopal Bishop Pike writes about something as controversial as the new morality, the result is apt to be well, controversial.

Holding that most discussion of the subject is too abstract, Pike uses the case method, citing 74 common, real life-type situations involving people, and then probing them from the point of view of applying Christian principles (as he sees Christian principles.)

He says there are three major schools of thought about morality today. 1. code ethics — unchanging laws based on the Bible, church teachings, natural law, etc. 2. antinomianism (anti law-ism) — anything goes, I do what I do. 3. existential ethics — each decision must be made in its own context or "I always/I never," "I do as I please," and "It depends."

His own answer, as the reader will have had no difficulty in guessing, lies in the third approach, with certain qualifications such as "a responsible approach to all decisions," "the rating of persons' above things," "the valuing of eros love (true, unselfish, healing) ahead of all other responses," "serious attention to the relevant portions of the Code as representing generalizations of human experience with common problems," and "awareness of pertinent factors to be weighed on the scales."

"Yes" to all these, he concludes, and "no, then, to READY-MADE answers for particular decisions required of people." (Pike's emphasis.)

The well chosen case studies, the interesting methodology, and Pike's characteristic pungency and candor make this book very readable. Its philosophy, while it has nothing in common with that of the Playboy bunch, will, of course, be anathema to Bible absolutists, and will be very much in the arena of the debatable for many others who are troubled by changing mores.

BOOKS

ers who are troubled by changing mores.

Peale's conclusions are quite different. His book, a paperback designed for mass sales, is a plea for clear-cut boundaries, within the context of understanding and sympathy for the people involved.

The famed minister, leader of New York's Protestant ecumenical movement, best-selling author, and columnist, singles out four primary influences "that have drastically changed and are still changing our sex attitudes."

First, and the one he slams hardest, is "the almost incredible commercialization of sex that has taken place in the last 10 or 15 years." He pulls no punches against "the merchants of sex" and "the barrage of sexuality emanating from every medium of communication."

He also blames "the virtual disappearance" of two deterrents to extramarital sex — fear of pregnancy and of venereal disease; the role of writers, thinkers and philosophers "who have done their best to make sex immorality seem natural and normal," and "the surrender of too many of the clergy."

Times change, Peale acknowledges, but the distinction "between eternal ethical laws and shifting patterns of social behavior is not being made clearly or forcibly by the people whose job it is to make it, namely, the leaders of the church. They are leaving the teaching of morals to laymen . . . and the result, not very surprisingly, is a kind of ethical chaos."

Peale employs the style of his newspaper columns, with lots of individual conversations, questions and answers. Though some may think his writing "old fashioned," he makes some good sense that will take a lot of rebutting. On permissive upbringing of children he observes, "Too many parents seem actually afraid of their children. They make little or no effort to enforce discipline. They seem to act on the helpless assumption that children can't really be controlled, so why bother to try? The result is that the children never learning discipline or how to control themselves."

BRIEFLY . . .

Tribute to a Cardinal; Surprise Best Seller

By LES RODNEY

JUST IN CASE anyone has the notion that being a chaplain in Vietnam is a safe occupation, we note in the Lutheran Council's news sheet that Chaplain Lt. Raymond W. Johnson suffered a shrapnel wound in the leg — third Lutheran chaplain to be wounded. One of the other casualties, who jumped with an Airborne Brigade, was awarded the Silver Star. There are 41 Lutheran chaplains with the armed forces in Vietnam, and 400 Lutheran chaplains on active duty.

AN ANONYMOUS St. Louis resident has paid the best kind of tribute to Joseph Cardinal Ritter, who died two weeks ago. He donated $100,000 to establish the Cardinal Ritter Foundation for Human Rights and Social Justice. Among the foundation's activities will be the training of leaders through scholarships, fellowships, grants in aid and loans for qualified Negro students, and support of "research and other activities dealing with educational problems relating to integration, teaching of the disadvantaged and the promotion of civic responsibility and respect for human rights."

One of Cardinal Ritter's first acts as archbishop of St. Louis was to desegregate all Catholic schools.

ACCORDING to Irvin A. Johnson of the Long Beach Jehovah's Witnesses, the constitutional right of parents to determine medical treatment of their minor children is under threat in recent proposed legislation in Michigan. Articles in the May 22 "Awake" magazine cite alleged incidents of overriding the parents' wishes in treatment and say this should be of concern to all.

THAT SWINGING conservative evangelical magazine, Christianity Today, whose excellence of presentation and cheerful willingness to give space to opposing viewpoints have carried its readership to wide circles, is still the place to find the hottest argumentation on the ecumenical movement and social action.

In an editorial article, the magazine said: "A growing number of Christians . . . criticize those spokesmen, who often are limited in socio-economic understanding, for their adamant refusal to consider seriously the idea that conservative positions may reflect equally well, if not better, the biblical perspective on complex issues of the world today."

The same issue's letter columns carried this barb from an opposing viewpoint: "It takes very little effort and no Christianity to criticize but it takes real effort and real Christianity to swallow your prejudices and cooperate with your brothers in Christ." It was signed by a United Church of Christ minister in Lyons, Tex.

Hitting back at another chiding letter's advocacy of "dynamic collaboration" in another issue, the magazine wrote: "In view of the Pope's recent reaffirmation of devotion to Mary and the World Council of Church's stepped-up program of politico-socio-economic action, Bible-believing Christians have good reason to be concerned about this 'dynamic collaboration' that could all too easily lead to one great world church of man."

Never a dull issue

SOME TIME back a church leader said: "In general, a community is not better than its churches. In general, a church is not better than its minister. In general, a minister is not better than his training."

Traditionally placing great emphasis on the training of its priests, the Episcopal Church recently set up a committee headed by Harvard President Nathan M. Pusey to study ways of means of improving things on the seminary front (there are 11 accredited Episcopal seminaries.)

The report, just in, calls for the creation of a permanent Board of Theological Education as a move toward "the regeneration of the church's life through the renewal of Christian ministries."

The committee also recommends a broad program to recruit men of the highest quality, to continue the education of the clergy after ordination and to employ "the talent of all its people . . . of both sexes and all races" so the church may "offer its best servants and services to a needy world." It also recommended cooperating with the universities and seminaries of other denominations in accordance with "the changing requirements of theological education in relation to an evolving culture."

Stress was placed on the important task of educating the laity in the meaning of the Gospel. "But," said the report "the people who are set aside to do this are the ministers and the kind of process that selects and trains them is the heart of the whole matter."

"GOOD NEWS

for Modern Man," the 25-cent paperback subtitled "The New Testament in Today's English Version," is moving toward the four million mark in sales though it has never had a cent of paid advertising and can't be found on the 100,000 retail outlets such as drugstores, supermarkets, newsstands etc. that display the latest paperbacks. Intended primarily by its publishers, the non-profit American Bible Society, for readers for whom English is a second language, it caught on big with native Americans of all ages and circumstances as soon as it came out. Many donors buy copies to distribute free. Some churches are putting it to good use.

INTERESTING paragraph from the Pope's encyclical on priestly celibacy: "The church is not unaware that the choice of consecrated celibacy, since it involves a series of hard renunciations which effect the very depths of a man, presents also grave difficulties and problems to which the men of today are particularly sensitive. In fact, it might seem that celibacy conflicts with the solemn recognition of human values by the church in the recent (Vatican) Council."

Strong Stands Taken by UCC

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The United Church of Christ's sixth general synod adjourned after taking stands on the Vietnam War and civil rights, installing its first salaried Negro national officer and adopting a $10.6 million budget.

The policy-making synod elected Rev. Joseph H. Evans, pastor of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Chicago, national secretary. He is perhaps the first Negro to hold a major, salaried office in a predominantly white denomination.

The synod concluding an eight-day meeting also elected its first woman executive council chairman and voted to include teenagers on its local and regional governing boards.

It passed a resolution calling for "serious reappraisal of the bombardment of North Vietnam by the United States. The Synod voted to extend financial assistance to Arab Refugees of the recent Middle East crisis.

The resolution dealing with the war in Southeast Asia asks the "American and North Vietnamese governments 'at the same time' to stop sending additional troops into South Vietnam.

DISCIPLES LEADER SAYS Change, Dissent Christian Heritage

"Christians should be perfectly at home in a revolutionary world, for change and revolution have always been a part of their heritage."

So stated Ian J. McCrae of Indianapolis at a session of the 77th area assembly of the Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) of Southern California meeting on the campus of Chapman College in Orange. McCrae is director of human rights for the United Christian Missionary Society and administrative secretary for the Coordinating Committee on Moral and Civil Rights of the International Convention of the Disciples of Christ.

"One mark of the committed Christian individual or institution is the quality and quantity of dissent from the present practices both of the church and society," McCrae stated. "The church which will speak to our age will discipline and train its members for overcoming anything which separates the human family."

THE "NEW CHURCH" will assign its members to "be the church" in every aspect of community life, such as city council, school board, park board, or in jails, McCrae believes.

New Christian Life Curriculum materials will be introduced for use in the homes of Christian Church members beginning in 1969, McCrae announced. These materials will assist families in using everyday events as occasions for Christian education and will emphasize the development of Christian values and attitudes rather than the traditional concept of teaching the "content and facts of the Christian faith," he pointed out.

More than 3,000 delegates, alternates and observers attended various sessions of the three-day assembly.

JARMAN HENRY

Rev. Donald R. Jarman, of South Bay Christian Church of Redondo Beach, was elected president of the board of directors of Southern California and Southern Nevada, with Mrs. Hilbert G. Wilkes of North Hollywood as vice president.

INSTALLED as new president of the Area Assembly of Southern California was Rev. Enoch W. Henry Jr., of United Christian Church of Los Angeles. He has served as president of the Christian Churches Ministers Assn. of Southern California, and in various inter-denominational and civic capacities.

In 1961 he was honored by the National Convention of Christian Churches for his contribution in the area of interracial and intercultural understanding.

THE POWER OF FAITH

The faith of the Rev. Bart Leach has led him to become a pioneer in a new ministry. While at the University of Pennsylvania, where he was voted the most valuable Ivy League basketball player in 1955, he spent three summers working at the university's camp for underprivileged boys. This confirmed his hunch that he wanted to work with people. After attending Princeton Theological Seminary, he was ordained in 1959, and in the parishes where he served he searched for better ways to help people. He says: "I began to feel that in the pastoral position I was in the grandstand and they were in the arena. I wanted to get into the 'arena' with them." Recently came the opportunity to join them in the area. Kimberly Clark Corporation invited him to join it and focus his ministry on the industrial scene. He will examine the areas of management practices and personnel programming from the standpoint of Christian ethics. "One can not separate secular life from his ministry," he comments.

South Africa Ousts Episcopal Bishop

A young Anglican bishop who attacked "apartheid" has been ordered out of South Africa.

Target of the deportation edict is Rt. Rev. C. Edward Crother, 38, an American citizen. He has served since 1965 as bishop of Kimberley and Kuruman, the largest Anglican diocese in South Africa.

Bishop Crother first stirred the wrath of the South African government in December 1965, when he called international attention to the plight of hundreds of blacks who had been dispossessed from their homes at Mamuthia.

Despite repeated warnings that the South African government would not tolerate further "embarrassment," he has continued to speak his mind about its policies of rigid racial segregation.

Once, when told to "stick to religion," he replied.

"Let us do just that. On purely religious grounds, we must call apartheid a blasphemy, a wicked, evil system by which man is separated from his brother by the laws of the land. On religious grounds I believe that I must love my neighbor as myself. Any political system which denies me the right to know my neighbor is wrong."

'WE'RE PENNANT CONTENDERS'---RIGNEY
Angels Hit .500 Target Nine Games Early

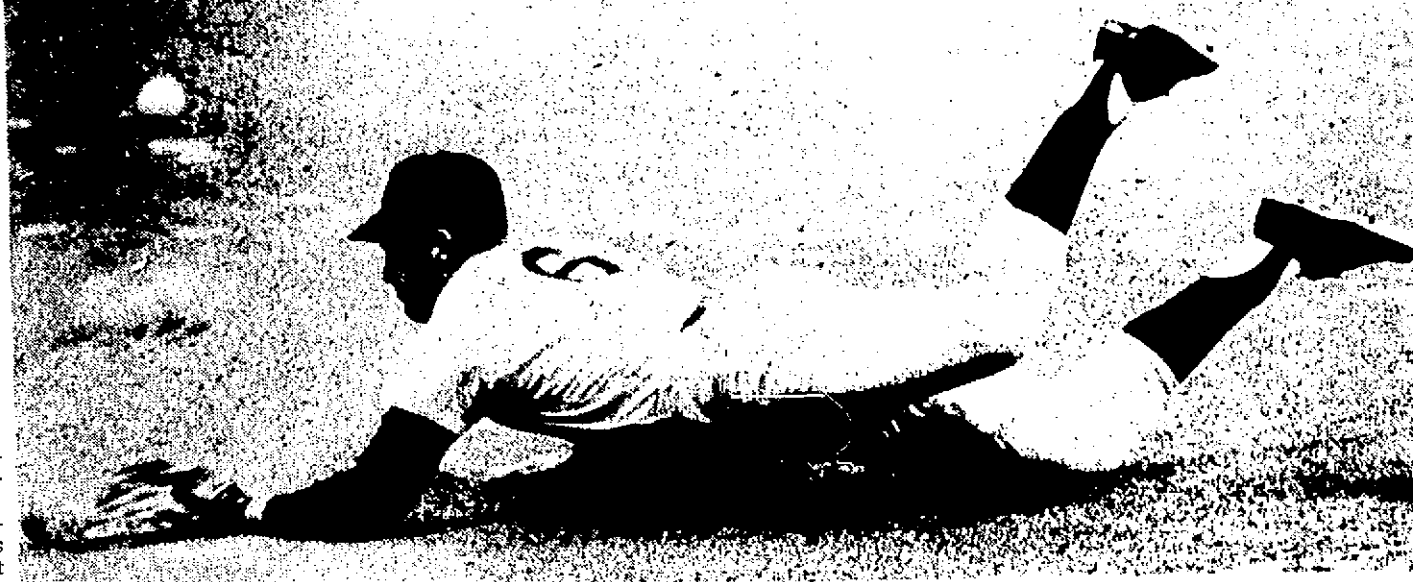

By ROSS NEWHAN
If the Angels were blowing off steam before, they're now powered by it. The June balloon became a pennant express Friday night with the first whistle stop at junction .500.
The track today travels on even ground for the first time since May 12 (13-13) as a 6-2 victory over New York capped the comeback of the month and season.
"We made it nine games ahead of schedule," rejoiced manager Bill Rigney. "I'm not backing off, we're a pennant contender. We might go right to the Rose Bowl."
Everything came up roses for the 18th time in 24 games as George Brunet and Minnie Rojas combined on a seven hitter before 23,370 appreciative fans.
Fireworks, a preview of the 4th, accompanied the pyrotechnics of offensive sparklers Don Mincher, Jimmie Hall and Jim Fregosi.
Thus the Angels closed out June with a bang, not to mention a 20-11 record, reading the depths on the seventh day (20-32) and the heights on the 30th (38-38).
No one was as high as Mincher, who had both feet off the ground after driving in three runs and learning of his selection to the American League All-Star squad.
The classic, of course, will be played at the Big A on July 11.
"I'll help you pack," ANGEL OF DAY
DON MINCHER drove in three runs as Angels defeated Yankees, 6-2.
winked Fregosi, who himself was honored for the third time.
"Have a nice trip," smiled Woodie Held.

The 29-year-old former Twins' single accounted for two runs in the first inning and his infield sizzler following singles by Paul Schaal and Fregosi made it 3-0 in the third.
Hall then hammered a triple and Rick Reichardt's ensuing sacrifice fly made it 5-0 before anyone had finished writing Mel Stottlemyre in to their score-book.
Stottlemyre (7-8) was finished, period.
Brunet (4-11) breezed through five innings on two hits, yielded a pair in the sixth on a walk, double by Tom Tresh and single by Charlie Smith, and then showered in the eighth, which Bill Robinson and Mickey Mantle opened with consecutive singles.
Rigney emerged from the dugout and Rojas was already in the fire truck. Four pitches later the blaze was extinguished as once again Rojas was distinguished.
Minnie has allowed only one earned run in his last 25 innings, and in his last 13 appearances he's won four, saved seven.
He's worked in five out the last seven, and Rigney was asked if Minnie could bounce back Sunday.
"What's wrong?" replied Rigney. "Have they cancelled tomorrow night's game?"

Osteen Pitching, Power Win 11th

By GEORGE LEDERER
Staff Writer
HOUSTON — Claude Osteen was an All-Star a few hours before he hit a game-winning home run in the ninth inning against the Astros Friday night. But, he admitted, he was "a little apprehensive" as the bus left the hotel for the ball park.
There was the good natured exchange between Walter Alston sitting in the front of the bus, and Osteen in the back.
Alston, his National League All-Star pitcher having been announced in the morning papers, had had a bad day. Two of his selections, Don Drysdale and Bob Gibson, had pitched a total of two innings and were charged with 15 runs the day before.
Mike Cuellar, another All-Star pick, had averted a loss because the Astros' game at Atlanta was rained out one out short of being official.
"Don't let me down, Gomez," pleaded Alston.
"With that in mind, naturally I was a little apprehensive," said Osteen.
His problems were complicated when the Astros scored four runs in the first two innings while Osteen was fighting the mound. He found the solution in his own bat, which brought him a 5-4 victory for an 11-7 record.
Leading off the ninth inning, Osteen broke the 4-4 stalemate by driving Don Wilson's high slider into the right field seats. In a four-run second inning, featured by Wes Parker's inside-the-park homer, Osteen had driven in the first run with a sacrifice fly.
Osteen, now batting .240 with two homers and six RBI, has topped the .200 mark only once in nine years. That was in 1965 when he hit .211. Last year it was .153, and his lifetime average going into this season was .163.
"I'm a better hitter this year because I'm swinging differently," said Osteen. "I've been choking up on the bat as Alston has asked."

A NICE TRY, BUT . . .
Resembling body surfer riding a big one, Yankee third baseman Charlie Smith slides after Jim Fregosi's sharply-tagged grounder in third inning. Smith didn't get ball, Yanks didn't get win. Angels were victorious, 6-2.

Golfers Threaten Walkout

MONTREAL (AP) — The touring professionals of golf threatened again Friday to pull out of the PGA and form their own organization unless the group meets their demands for more control of the tour.
The players, in a unanimous action, gave the PGA until next Wednesday to meet their demands or they "would regretfully refrain from playing in the PGA championship and would be forced to charter a new organization to perform business in 1968."
"It's squarely up to the PGA now," said Doug Ford, a member of the Players' Tournament committee. "If they want to have a tournament in Denver, they have to agree."
The PGA championship, one of the four major titles in the game, is scheduled to start in Denver July 20.
"We don't really want to pull out of the PGA," Ford said, "but we are unanimous in our stand. We'll do it if we have to."
Ford said about 90 players attended an emergency meeting held behind closed doors Wednesday night.
The PGA represents both the touring pros and club pros, with club pros outnumbering the tourists about 20-1.
"We don't really need the PGA," Ford said.
Ford said that the players' ultimatum has been telegraphed and telephoned to members of the PGA Executive Committee, including PGA President Max Elbin of Bethesda, Md.
"We haven't yet had any response," Ford said.
The current players' stand is the strongest they have yet taken in the old and extremely complex struggle with PGA executives over control of the tour.
"The tour, on the surface, looks to be in good shape," Ford said. "But it isn't. It stinks. You get under the surface and you find a lot of things—things involving contracts, TV money and such—that aren't right."
The present stand involves a critical veto power held by the PGA Executive Committee on matters pertaining to the tour.

DODGER OF DAY

CLAUDE OSTEEN won 11th game, hitting homer and sacrifice fly, as Dodgers edged Houston, 5-4.

all his pitchers to do. We're not power hitters. But it's surprising, I've been hitting the ball just as far."

There was no doubt about Osteen's homer. "I knew it had a good chance to go out the instant I hit it. I was ready for my 'Cadillac' around the bases as soon as I saw the fans out there waving their hands."

Osteen couldn't decide which events made him happier, the home run, being a recorded All-Star honor for the first time, or becoming the major league's first 11-game winner, about an hour ahead of Juan Marichal.

"I guess it would be the home run," he said. "I had an idea I might make the All-Star team, but I really didn't know. I had no hint from Alston."

The only hint from Alston was that Osteen would not finish the game. This came after Bob Aspromonte's bad-hop leadoff single in the ninth.

Alston came to the mound with a dual purpose. He wanted to check on the condition of his shortstop. A ball had taken a wicked hop off Dick Schofield's right hand. He also had a message for Osteen.

"I was getting a little tired and Walt told me he'd take me out after one more hitter, but he wanted me to field the (Ron Davis') bunt first."

After Davis popped up his bunt and failed to advance the runner, Alston brought in Ron Ferranowski, who recorded his fifth save with a double play on the first pitch to Ron Brand.

The Dodgers had a 4-run inning, their high, for the 10th time this season. With one out in the second, John Roseboro singled, Len SAY, WHO'S THE BOSS?

Roles seemed to be reversed when manager Harry Walker of Pirates and umpire Tom Gorman conducted on-field debate. Walker appears to be thumbing Gorman to clubhouse, but—surprised? it was just the other way around.

Washed Out, Washed In, Washed Up . . . Whew!

DETROIT (UPI) — Jerry Schoenith was washed out of his hydroplane Friday as he turned a corner at 140 miles per hour, but came out with only a bath and a bruised shoulder when a wave tossed him back into the boat an instant later. He decided then to call it a day.
Schoenith, 25, of Detroit, was attempting to qualify Gale's Roostertail on the last day of trials for the world championship power boat race on the Detroit River Sunday.
The first casualty during five days of qualifying, Schoenith was approaching the eastern end of the three-mile course when the accident occurred.
"I was going about 140 miles an hour on the backstretch before I hit the turn," he said. "As I turned the bow of the boat, it nosed under and a solid wall of water threw me out."
"I hit a wave and landed back in the seat sideways on my shoulder," he said.
What did Schoenith have to say about his close brush with disaster? "Whew!"

U.S. Gals Roll On; Pasarell Last Hope

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — John Newcombe, third seeded Australian, knocked out Clark Graebner in three sets Friday and left Charlie Pasarell as the sole American survivor in the men's singles at the Wimbledon Lawn Tennis Championships.
Graebner, 23-year-old from Beachwood, Ohio, saved 16 set points in the first set against Newcombe in a teeth-gritting effort to keep the match alive.
Finally the young American went down 17-15 in that vital first set and then all the steam left him in the blistering heat of No. 1 court. He dropped the next two sets, and Newcombe won 17-15, 6-3, 6-4.

Pasarell, 23-year-old former ball boy from San-turce, Puerto Rico, plays Tomas Koch of Brazil in today's round of 16.
Six American girls are through to the round of 16, and Billie Jean King, the defending champion, still looked a safe bet to retain her title—though she has played only once to reach the fourth round, Billie Jean meets Italy's Lea Pericoli today.

The shirt-sleeved crowd of 8,000 cheered the gutsy Graebner as he fought off each set point—but the breaking point had to come.
It came in the 32nd game. Graebner saved yet another set point — his 16th — with a smash, then wearily served two double faults and the first set was Newcombe's.

Newcombe won the second set, but the fighting heart of Graebner still kept him going. He saved three match points in the ninth game and pulled the score back to 4-5.
That was his last throw. Newcombe served the match out to love and joined countrymen Ken Fletcher and John Cooper and West Germany's Wilhelm Bungert in the quarter-finals.

Mrs. King, the defending champion from Long Beach, Calif., won her second round match against Ingrid Lofdahl of Sweden and then won Friday when Mrs. Elsie Veentjer — Spryut of Holland defaulted. Mrs. Veentjer — Spryut pulled out on doctor's orders.

Mrs. King and her mixed doubles partner Owen Davidson of Australia also advanced in that division by default since Mrs. Veentjer — Spryut was to have teamed with Jaime Pinto Bravo of Chile against them in a match Friday.

The other American girls in the last 16 are Kathy Harter, Seal Beach, Calif.; Mary Anne Eisel, St. Louis, Mo.; Nancy Richey, San Angelo, Tex.; Stephanie De Fina, Hollywood, Fla., and Rosemary Casals, San Francisco.
Miss Eisel defeated Cecilia Martinez of San Francisco 3-6, 6-1, 6-0; Miss Richey knocked off Anna Dmitrieva of Russia 6-4, 6-1, and Miss Harter downed West Germany's Edda Budding 6-2, 6-3.

IT'S IN THE CARDS: 2-1
FLAG CHOICE
CHICAGO (UPI) — An oddsmaker Friday listed the St. Louis Cardinals as a 2 to 1 favorite to win the National League pennant.
The second place Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates both were listed at 10 to 1, while Cincinnati was 7 to 2, San Francisco 5 to 1 and Atlanta 8 to 1. The other four teams were grouped at 15 to 1.
The odds that St. Louis would not win were 2 to 5, while it was 1 to 5 against Cincinnati, 1 to 7 against the Giants, 1 to 12 against the Braves, 1 to 15 against the Cubs and Pirates, and 1-25 against the other four teams.
Wind Rips Roof; Twin Fans Panic
ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Wind gusts of more than 50 miles per hour apparently ripped off a small section of the roof of Metropolitan Stadium and sent fans into a near state of panic in the first inning of the Minnesota-Washington baseball game Friday night.
Time was called as a driving rain that reduced visibility to 100 feet sent the estimated 9,000 spectators racing for any cover they could find, fearing a tornado was about to strike the stadium. A few clamored into the press box.
No tornado funnel was spotted in the darkness as the stadium lights went out, but the deafening roar of the wind led many to believe a tornado had passed over the semi-open stadium.
Play was suspended with two out in the last of the first inning after Minnesota had taken a 1-0 lead on Tony Oliva's run-scoring double.
Miss Eisel defeated Cecilia

Marichal Bags 11th Win as Giants, Phils Divide

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Juan Marichal coasted to his 11th triumph of the season Friday in pitching the San Francisco Giants to a 12-3 victory after the Philadelphia Phillies had won the opener of a twin-night doubleheader 10-3 behind southpaw Chris Short.

DODGERS--Yankees Succumb to Angels who was making his first appearance in five weeks. Marichal allowed seven hits and raised his record to 11-6 when the Giants tagged reliever Dick Farrell for three runs in the sixth to snap a 3-3 tie and then maulled Dallas Green for four in the seventh and two in the eighth to turn the game into a rout. Cookie Rojas, normally Philadelphia's starting second baseman, finished on the mound for the Phils, allowing one hit in one inning of work. He now has the distinction of having played every position in the major leagues.

Singles by Jay Alou, Jim Davenport and a walk loaded the bases in the sixth and Jim Hart and Ollie Brown followed with singles to drive in three. Tito Fuentes hit a solo homer in the seventh off Green, highlighting a four-run outburst. Brown finished with four hits in five trips in the nightcap. He collected two hits in the opener.

Short, who tore a knee ligament on May 23 and came off the disabled list three days ago, won the opener behind a 10-hit attack which included his own three-run double and three doubles by Johnny Callison.

The touring southpaw, rusty in the early innings, yielded a three-run homer to Dick Dietz in the third but then pitched two-hit ball the rest of the way, striking out eight.

The Phils broke a 3-3 tie with four runs off Gaylord Perry in the fifth, sending the Giants' righthander down to his fifth successive loss. Callison drove in the go-ahead run with his second double, Clay Dalrymple doubled home another run and Bobby Wine doubled in two more to kayo Perry.

Slumping Pirates Slip Past Braves

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pitcher Steve Blass rapped a two-out, two-run single in the eighth inning Friday night, lifting the slumping Pittsburgh Pirates to a 3-1 victory over Atlanta.

Blass, who pitched a five-hitter, delivered against reliever Clay Carroll.

Bill Mazeroski had doubled with one out and after Donn Clendenon was walked intentionally, Jose Pagan lined out. Then Rico Carty bobbled Jerry May's bouncer, loading the bases and setting the stage for Blass' winning hit which ended a five-game losing streak for Pittsburgh.

The game was delayed twice by rain for a total of one hour, 43 minutes with the score tied at 1-1.

Pagan had singled Mazeroski across with Pittsburgh's first run in the fourth. Woody Woodward's triple delivered Denis Menke in the second for the Braves' only run. When Bob Uecker filed to right field, Woodward attempted to score but was cut down at the plate by Roberto Clemente.

The complete game by Blass was only the ninth in 71 games for the Pirates. Blass raised his record to 3-2 and helped the Bucs run their record to 6-3 against the Braves.

Indians Edge Birds in 14th; Curfew Halts Second Game

BALTIMORE (AP)—Vic Davalillo singled home the winning run in the 14th inning Friday as Cleveland defeated Baltimore 6-5 in the opener of a twin-night doubleheader cut short by a local curfew.

Baltimore led the nightcap 1-0 on Boog Powell's homer when play was suspended after five innings. The contest will be resumed in the sixth today, preceding the regularly scheduled game.

The first game required four hours, 53 minutes to complete, and the nightcap didn't begin until 10:50 p.m. A Baltimore law prohibits the start of any inning after 11:59 p.m.

The Indians sent the opener into extra innings by scoring a ninth-inning run as reliever Eddie Watt walked Don Demeter with the bases loaded.

Max Alvis' third single of the game, started the winning rally in the 14th off loser Wally Bunker and Chuck Hinton walked. With two out, Davalillo sliced a broken-bat single to left, scoring Alvis.

Cleveland jumped into a 3-0 lead in the opening inning and then was held hitless by starter Pete Richter until Duke Sims homered in the seventh, tying the score 4-4.

CARNERA FUNERAL SUNDAY

SEQUALS, Italy (UP)—Primo Carnera, former world heavyweight champion who died Thursday in his native village, will be buried Sunday in this north Italian village.

Carnera succumbed to cirrhosis of the liver and diabetes a month after returning from the United States, where he lived since World War II.

Carnera's widow, Pina, said Friday night the funeral service will be held Sunday afternoon by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Giuseppe Della Pozza, Sequal's parish priest. Msgr. Della Pozza had married Primo and Pina March 13, 1938, in a little village near the Italian-Yugoslav border.

Mrs. Carnera said she set the funeral for Sunday to allow her son, Umberto, a medical student at the University of California, to arrive in time for the ceremony. The former champion's daughter, Jean Marie Anderson, is already in Sequal.

Red-Hot Cubs Lash Reds, 7-5

CHICAGO (AP)—Home runs by Billy Williams and Ron Santo propelled the high flying Chicago Cubs to a 7-5 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Friday.

The triumph was the fourth in a row and 11th in the last 12 games for the second-place Cubs who finished in the National League cellar last year.

Bill Hands, who aided his own cause with a two-run single in the sixth, picked up his fourth victory in seven decisions but needed help in the seventh after hurling 6 1/3 hitless innings.

With one out in the seventh, Hands lost his no-hitter on a looping single to center by Tony Perez. A double by Deron Johnson and singles by Don Pavletich and Lee May chased Hands in favor of Cal Koonce after three runs were in.

Williams slammed his 14th homer with two out in the fifth, Hands' two-run single made it 6-0 in the sixth.

DETROIT (AP)—Veteran Johnny Podres, with relief help from Mike Marshall, pitched the Detroit Tigers to a 4-1 victory over the league-leading Chicago White Sox Friday night.

Podres, 2-0, a 34-year-old lefthander making his third start of the season, put the leadoff man on base three times in the first six innings without allowing a run.

But he got into trouble in the eighth when Don Buford and Dick Kenworthy hit consecutive singles with one out.

Marshall took over and gave up a run-scoring single to Tommy Agee before retiring the side.

Detroit jumped on White Sox starter Tommy John, 6-5, for three runs in the first on a triple by Dick McAuliffe, a pair of walks, a passed ball, and a two-run double by Norm Cash.

The Tigers added another run in the third without a hit. Bill Freehan led off with a walk, took second on a wild pitch by John, went to third on an infield out, and scored when John let Mickey Stanley's twisting dribbler get through him for an error.

CHICAGO (AP)—The three, linebacker Eddie Phillips, center Vic Vincent and safety Mitch Gainer, brings the total of players signed to the first-year club to 20.

Gainer, 6-foot, 170-pound free safety, was an all-conference selection in 1965 but was sidelined last season with a broken leg. Vincent, a 6-foot-2, 235 center won all-Big Sky honors the past two years.

Phillips, 23, is 6-foot, 210, and a linebacker.

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, who finished in the National League cellar last year, won their fourth straight game Friday night, 4-1, over the Chicago White Sox.

Johnny Podres, 2-0, pitched a complete game, allowing only one run in the eighth inning.

Podres, 34, was making his third start of the season.

Javier Propels Cards

NEW YORK (UPI)—Julian Javier capped a three-run first inning with a bases loaded, two-run single and added a sacrifice fly in the sixth Friday night in pacing the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals to a 4-1 victory over the New York Mets, ending a three-game losing streak.

Larry Jaster, picking up his fifth victory against three losses, stopped the Mets on nine hits with Jerry Grote's fourth inning homer accounting for the only New York run. Ron Swoboda collected three of the hits Jaster allowed.

With two out and none on in the first inning, Roger Maris started the rally off starter and loser Bob Shaw with a double. Orlando Cepeda singled Maris home and moved to third himself on Tim McCarver's double.

After Mike Shannon walked, Javier stroked the two-run single that decided the game.

Javier hit his sacrifice fly in the sixth after McCarver and Shannon singled.

The Mets had Jaster in trouble several times but he always worked his way out of it. He got Bud Harrelson to fly out with the bases loaded in the second and struck out Ed Charles with two on in the third.

LUCKY BONNET

NANCY RICHEY (above) and Catherine LaCoste wear their contributions to millinery styles during competition, and both bonnets proved lucky Friday. Miss Richey won match at Wimbledon by defeating Anna Dmitrieva of Russia, 6-4, 6-4, while Miss LaCoste of Saint Jean de Luz, France, surged into five-stroke lead in U.S. Women's Open golf championship at Hot Springs, Va.

French Amateur Leads U.S. Open

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (UPI)—Catherine LaCoste, the 22-year-old French Amateur champion, fired a one-under par 70 Friday for a two-round 141 and a five-stroke lead at the halfway point of the U.S. Women's Open championship.

Miss LaCoste, with an eye toward becoming the first amateur to win the event, displayed a brilliant second round over the rolling Cascades course.

Thursday's front runner, Sandra Haynie of Fort Worth, Tex., who recorded a one-under 70 in the opening round, skied to 79 for a seven-over 149.

Sharing second place at the midway point were Susie Maxwell of Oklahoma City and Margie Masters of Largo, Fla.

Miss LaCoste put together a string of eight pars on the front nine before dropping a birdie on the ninth hole.

Canada Lead to Art Wall

MONTREAL (UPI)—Art Wall Jr., the "quiet man" among the touring golf professionals, slipped into the halfway lead in the $200,000 Canadian Open championship Friday with a one-under par 70 for a 36-hole total of 137.

The methodical, soft-spoken Pennsylvanian, who shot a 67 opening day, settled for an unspectacular 33-37-70 over the par 35-36-71, 6,600-yard municipal course. But it was good enough for a two-shot lead over Billy Casper and Dale Douglass and was three better than first-round leader Laurie Hammer, who slipped from 66 Thursday to a 74.

Also bunched at 140 were 1964 winner Kel Nagle of Australia, who had a 69 Friday, Roberto DeVicenzo of Argentina (69-71), Gardner Dickinson (68-72), and Steve Reid (67-73).

U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus couldn't solve the controversial city layout any better than most as he finished with a one-over 72 and tied with Don January (70-71) at 141. On the opening round, 18 were under par. Friday only 10 pars were still under regulation figures.

Arnie Palmer, who won his maiden pro title in this event 12 years ago, was grouped with six others at even par 142. The leading money winner on the U.S. tour has had rounds of 72 and 70, but he had to birdie two of the last three holes to do it.

"Forgetting the conditions, I think this golf course is really a little bit more difficult than most of us were giving it credit for," Palmer said.

Tied with Palmer at 142 were Harold Henning of South Africa (72-70), Al Geiberger (70-72), Bob Stanton (71-71), Chi Chi Rodriguez (71-71), 1958 winner Wes Ellis (70-72), and England's Tony Jacklin (72-70).

A total 81 made the 147 cutoff and there were some prominent absentees. Among those who won't be around for the final two rounds were two of Canada's chief hopes: recent New Orleans winner George Knudson, who passed up qualifying for the U.S. Open in order to prep for his own open; and lanky Al Balding, who finished 12th in the U.S. national.

Tigers Try to Mend Patch Work Outfield

DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit Tiger outfield corps, already depleted by the loss of All-Star right-fielder Al Kaline and slugging leftfielder Willie Horton, lost another member Friday when reserve outfielder Gates Brown was placed on the disabled list for at least 21 days.

Detroit brought up journeyman outfielder Lem Green, 34, from its Toledo farm club in the International League to replace Brown. Thursday the Tigers obtained veteran Jim Landis from the Houston Astros for relief pitcher Larry Sherry. Landis replaced Kaline, who was placed on the disabled list until July 19.

Brown, will be playing for his sixth American League team when he reports to the Tigers for Friday's game with the Chicago White Sox.

Since first coming up in 1957, Green has played for the Baltimore Orioles twice, the Washington Senators, Minnesota Twins, Los Angeles Angels and Boston Red Sox. His lifetime batting average for the 1,072 games he played is .265. Green was hitting .330 in 62 games with Toledo.

Brown received his injury in Thursday's 5-3 loss to Cleveland when he dislocated a bone in his left wrist attempting to make a catch in left field.

Earlier in the series, Kaline smashed the little finger of his right hand against a bat rack after striking out. Horton is bothered by a recurring injury to his left heel and is currently on the bench until he is running better.

'STOP ALIBIS, START WINNING'

Slumping Bucs Get Word

PITTSBURGH (AP) — General manager Joe Brown of the Pittsburgh Pirates, refusing to give manager Harry Walker the usual vote of confidence, gave one instead to his players Friday night.

Brown called the Pirate players into a closed door meeting, with Walker and the coaches absent before Pittsburgh took the field to play Atlanta.

"In essence," Brown said, "what I told them was that if this club doesn't win the National League pennant, it's not that they're mismanaged. It's because they didn't want to pay the price to win."

Brown said he talked to the players for 15 minutes and told them Walker would be the Pirate manager for a long time.

Walker has been under harsh criticism in Pittsburgh lately because the Pirates, favored to win the National League pennant, had lost five games and dropped to sixth place.

"It was not a vote of confidence for Harry," Brown said. "I don't believe in a vote of confidence for the manager because in reality, it's a fake and doesn't work out."

"I was giving a vote of confidence to the players because I thought we had the best 25 players in the National League."

"Stop worrying about whether you like Harry Walker," Brown said he told the players, "because you can find all kinds of alibis. If you do the job, we can win the pennant."

He said he told the players, "I'm sure many of you played for great fellows who weren't popular. I wish all of you liked the manager, but that's the ideal."

"You have to do the job whether the conditions of your employment are exactly as you like them or not," Brown said he told the players.

Bonavena Boasts 'I Tear Him Apart' in Ring Tourney

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Oscar Bonavena, the long-haired Argentine heavyweight, promised Friday to tear German champ Karl Mildenberger apart when they meet in a heavyweight title elimination bout in nearby Offenbach on Sept. 16.

The top boxers signed contracts to meet in the 15-round match which is part of a tournament designed to produce a successor to Cassius Clay, who has been stripped of his title in the United States.

In the other eliminations, promoted by Sports Action of New York, Ernie Terrell will meet Thad Spencer and Jimmy Ellis will take on Leotis Martin in a doubleheader at the Houston, Tex., Astrodome Aug. 5.

Floyd Patterson, the former champ, is expected to box Jerry Quarry in a rematch at a later date in the fourth bout of the series.

Bonavena, a South American version of Clay in the talking department, was in great voice when he met reporters at the Frankfurt airport on his way to the signing.

"I tear him apart," said Bonavena, only slightly hampered by the fact that he speaks only halting English and no German.

"He have no chance. He lose before his own fans."

"Clay so afraid he rather go to jail for five years than fight me. Mildenberger not so afraid but stupid to fight me with no chance. I am the next world champion. Clay say he greatest but he never say greatest what. I say I greatest — greatest boxer."

Bonavena said he might stay in Germany for two days and then go south to France.

"Lots sun, swimming," said Oscar. "Oscar have much fun. I no think Mildenberger any good. I easy win."

Bonavena is ranked No. 3 by the World Boxing Assn. and Mildenberger is No. 1. The German boxer was stopped by Clay in the 12th round last September.

Osteen, Big D on All-Stars

Mantle Selected for 14th Time Combined News Services

Don Drysdale and Claude Osteen, the nucleus of Walter Alston's pitching staff, have been selected by the Dodgers' manager as two of the eight National League hurlers for the All-Star game to be staged July 11, at Anaheim.

The Dodgers, currently bogged down in eighth place, were the only NL squad to place two pitchers on the team.

Also selected by Alston, who earned the manager's position by guiding the Dodgers home first in the NL last season, were right-handers Juan Marichal of San Francisco, Ferguson Jenkins of Chicago, Bob Gibson of St. Louis and rookie Tom Seaver of New York. Other left-handers, in addition to Osteen, were Denny Lemaster of Atlanta and Mike Cuellar of Houston.

It will mark the seventh All-Star appearance for Drysdale, who is laboring through a rocky 7-8 season and the first for Osteen, who boasts an 11-7 mark through Friday's games. Drysdale, who struck out 17 and allowed eight hits while compiling a 1.88 earned run average in 14-1/3 All-Star innings, lost his only decision in the annual clash.

Marichal, 2-0 in the mid-summer classic, and the winner in 10 of his first 16 decisions this year, has allowed six hits over 11 innings while amassing a 0.82 ERA. He has been chosen five times previously.

Mickey Mantle, shifted from the outfield to first base this season to prolong his brilliant career, was named to his 14th American League All-Star team by former teammate and Baltimore manager Hank Bauer.

Bauer, who formed two-thirds of the New York outfield with Mantle during the Yankees' heyday of the 1950s when they won eight pennants, also selected eight other reserve players for the 38th classic.

Picked in addition to Mantle were Tony Conigliaro of Boston, Jim Fregosi and Don Mincher of the Angels, Detroit's Dick McAuliffe, Max Alvis of Cleveland, Tommy Agee of Chicago, Washington's Paul Casanova and Bauer's own Andy Etchebarren.

League president Joe Cronin announced the choices, who will back up the first team named in balloting by the league's players. Bauer, whose players will attempt to snap a four-game National League win streak, still has to name his pitchers.

Mantle has played in 14 All-Star contests but none since 1964. The 35-year-old switchhitting star has hit 510 homers in his 17-year major league career, which has been interrupted countless times by injuries.

The Yankees switched Mantle from the outfield to first base this season to preserve his creaking legs—and give them some hope of vacating the American League cellar. He has been named to more All-Star teams than any active American Leaguer.

Tee-rific Field Opens Play in Meadowlark Invitational

Most of Southern California's finest amateur golfers will be on the firing line today in the 22nd Meadowlark Invitational golf tournament.

The 81 entries in the championship flight begin play at 10:30 a.m. on both the first and 10th tees.

Arne Dokka, a former National Publix champion, headlines the field, which received another boost with the added entries of Curtis Sifford and Chuck Montalbano.

Others title contenders include Dick Clover, Dave Larson, John Nichols, Lee Davis, Larry Bouchee, Bill Fernandez and Kemp Richardson.

Dokka tees off at 11:08 with John Israel, Stew Morgan, Terry Hartshorn and Mike Blum. Richardson, Sifford and Davis go off six minutes earlier with Jim Petralia and Mike Miller.

The 54-hole tournament continues Sunday and Tuesday. Prizes total $2,000.

Two L.B. Oarsmen in Finals

PELHAM MANOR, N.Y. (AP) — Jeffrey Kregar of the Wyandotte, Mich. Boat Club, Bill Maker of the Detroit Boat Club and John Nunn of the Long Beach Rowing Assn. qualified in repechages Friday for the finals in the Pan-American singles sculls rowing trials.

The three join Thursday's winners — Jim Storm of the San Diego Rowing Club, Jim Dietz of the New York Athletic Club and John Van Blom of the Long Beach Assn. — in the six-man final today.

The eight-oar final also will be held today with four entries — Harvard's intercollegiate sprint champions, Pennsylvania's intercollegiate rowing championships, and the Vesper Boat Club's A and B crews from Philadelphia.

The winners of today's races qualify as the United States' representatives to the Pan-American Games at Winnipeg Aug. 3-6.

Nunn jumped to an early one length lead in the first heat and breezed home in 7:53.4.

Ortiz 2-1 Favorite to Turn Back Ramos

Combined News Services

SAN JUAN (UPI) — Lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz rates a 2-1 favorite to successfully defend his title a second time against Sugar Ramos when the two collide tonight.

The bout at Hiram Bithorn Stadium is expected to draw about 20,000 fans and a gate of over $180,000.

Ortiz was awarded a controversial fifth round technical knockout over Ramos in Mexico City last October. Referee Billy Conn stopped the fight after Ramos suffered a deep cut over his eye, despite the fact that the Mexican and his followers adamantly insisted he was able to continue.

Ortiz has not been particularly impressive in workouts here and has had trouble getting down to the 135-pound weight limit.

U.S. Crews Advance at Thames

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England (AP) — Three American crews rowed their way into the semifinals of the Henley Royal Regatta Friday with Cornell University still the United States' brightest hope for international honors.

The Cornell lightweights crushed England's Crowland Rowing Club by two lengths in a fast time of 6 minutes, 58 seconds in the quarter finals of the Thames Cup event over the River Thames course.

The Americans led throughout. They meet Molesley Boat Club of England today and still are rated favorites to win the event.

In the Princess Elizabeth Cup for schoolboy eights, Tabor Academy of Marion, Mass., thrashed Nautical College of Pangbourne, England, by four lengths in 7:10, and Kent School, Conn., whipped England's Westminster School by 2 1/2 lengths in 7:14.

Tabor and Kent meet in an all-American semifinal battle today.

Kent already has beaten Tabor twice in the United States this season.

"It could be quite a race," Tabor coach Terry Howle said. "We were fast today and we hope to be even swifter tomorrow."

Salta Pontiac (7-1) begins the second round of California Collegiate Baseball League action today, hosting San Diego (2-3) in a doubleheader on the City College diamond (1 p.m.). The Saltans play a twin bill at Ontario (1-4) Sunday.

The CCBL leaders boast a .287 team batting average with John McKee (.556), Dale Duncan (.333), Gene Dusan (.333), Larry Albright (.308), Doug Stodgel (.286) and Walt Weller (.286) the top hitters.

On the mound, Darryl Thomas, Randy Guesno and Leon Hooten are all 2-0 with earned run averages of 1.56, 2.06 and 2.50 respectively. Joe Miller is 1-1 with a 1.69 ERA while reliever Dave Jones is 0-0 and 1.80.

Clay Tabs Quarry, Frazier for Title

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Cassius Clay dethroned as heavyweight boxing champion by the World Boxing Assn. said Friday Sonny Liston could whip all eight boxers the WBA has selected for an elimination series to find a new titleholder.

He scoffed at a news conference saying, "Boxing is no good if the people don't pay. The American people are too smart to pay to see those boys. Making a homemade champion is no good."

"I've beaten them all." Actually, he has beaten some of the eight; hasn't fought others.

"I'm watching Joe Frazier and Jerry Quarry," indicating he thinks they're the best of the eight.

Clay also said "I'm deciding right now on retirement," but flatly refused to make such an announcement now.
